VIKING

TIME IT WAS,
AND WHAT A TIME IT WAS.

VIKING 1971

HOOVER HIGH SCHOOL

NORTH CANTON, OHIO

This was our year—
1971.

Time it was for us to learn many Wonderful things
Not always contained in books.
For mostly we learned
About one another—
Friendship, joy, peace,
Love, & sometimes tears.
But always we learned.

Looking back,
We have all become one spirit.
When we cheered or wept,
We did so together,
For this was the last time
We would all be united.
Never again would these
Fifteen hundred congregate
After our year.

IT WAS A TIME OF INNOCENCE

Unafraid, we became again
Like little children.

In the moments of silence
We played the games again,
Singing songs to the wind,
Laughing aloud.
And we talked to friends
We had then—
Discovering the importance
Of a toy lost long ago.
Returning to nature,
Reveling in the beauty of a rose
In early morning meditation—
These things have brought us
Back to a state
Of childlike innocence.

Together we have shared
This most precious time,
Learning so much
About life
And the meaning of love.

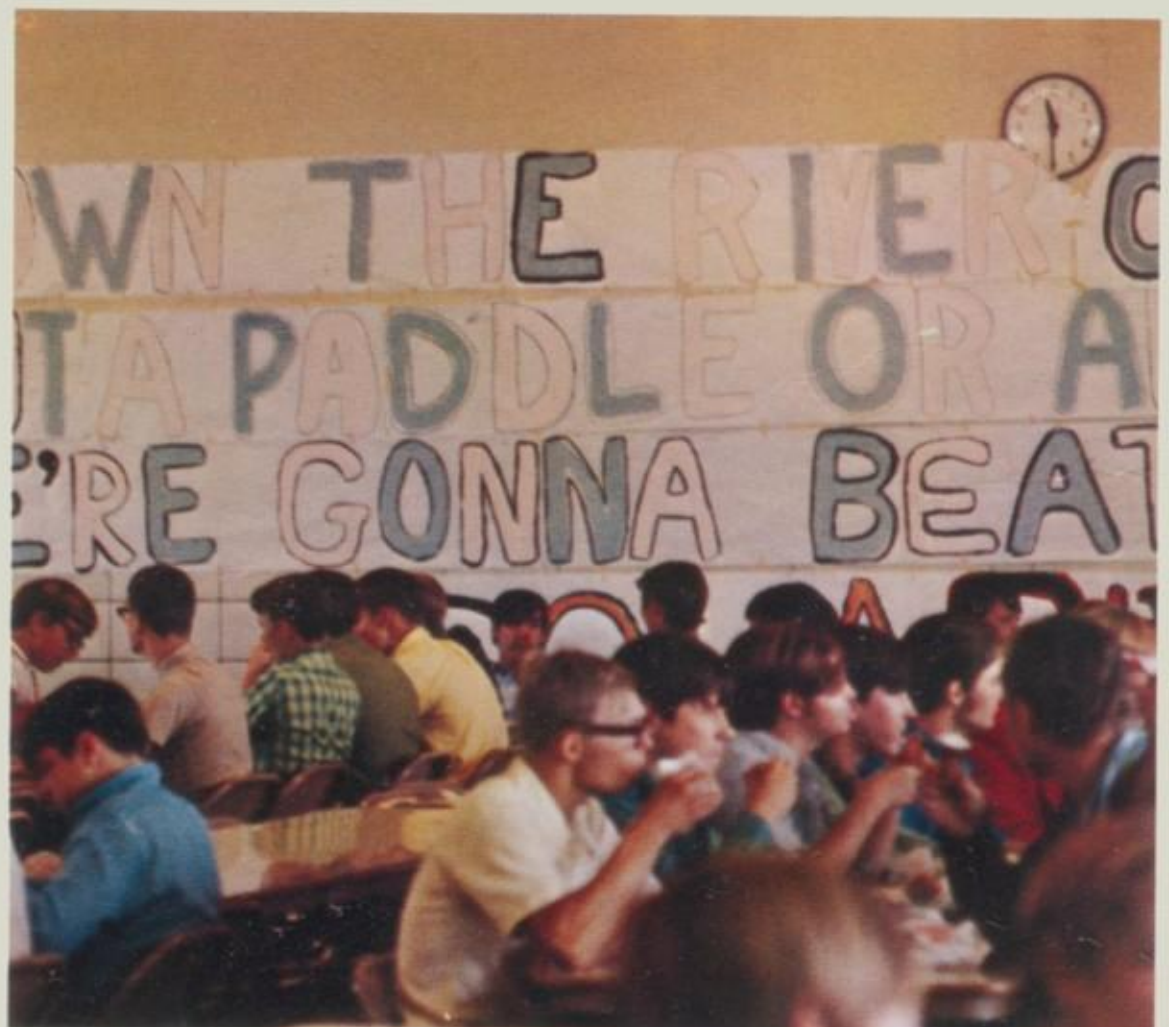

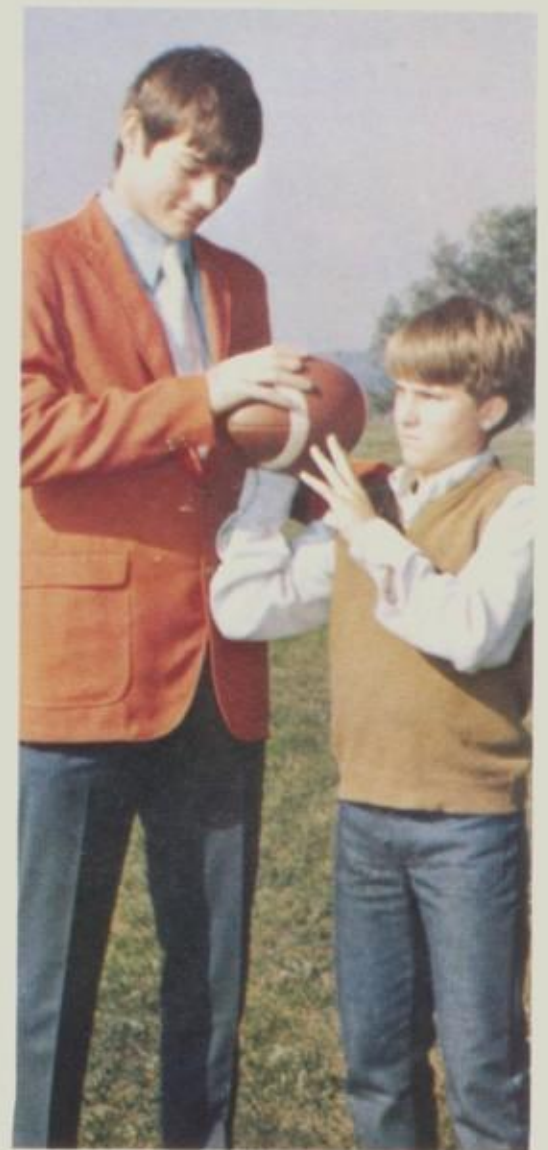

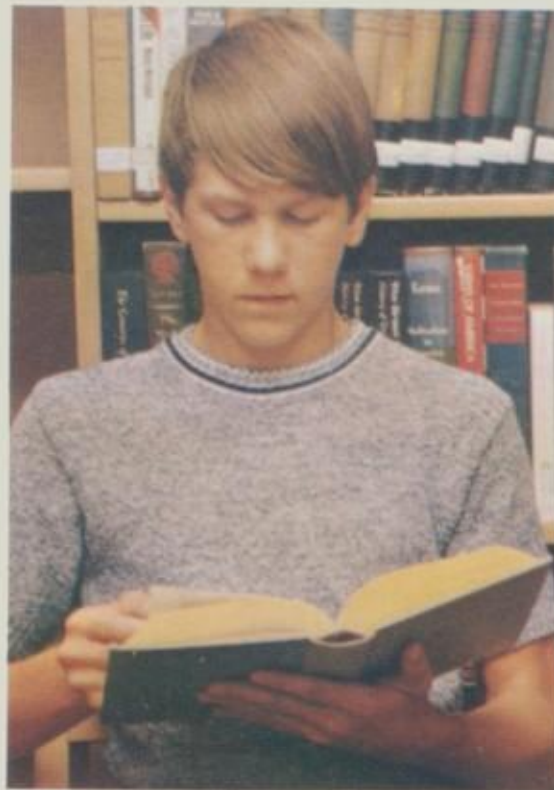

You and I
Becoming "we"—
Our friendship growing
As time was passing.
Something too special
To ever be destroyed
Was created and polished
In the days we spent together.
And now, as these days end,
Will love survive?

IT WAS A TIME OF CONFIDENCES

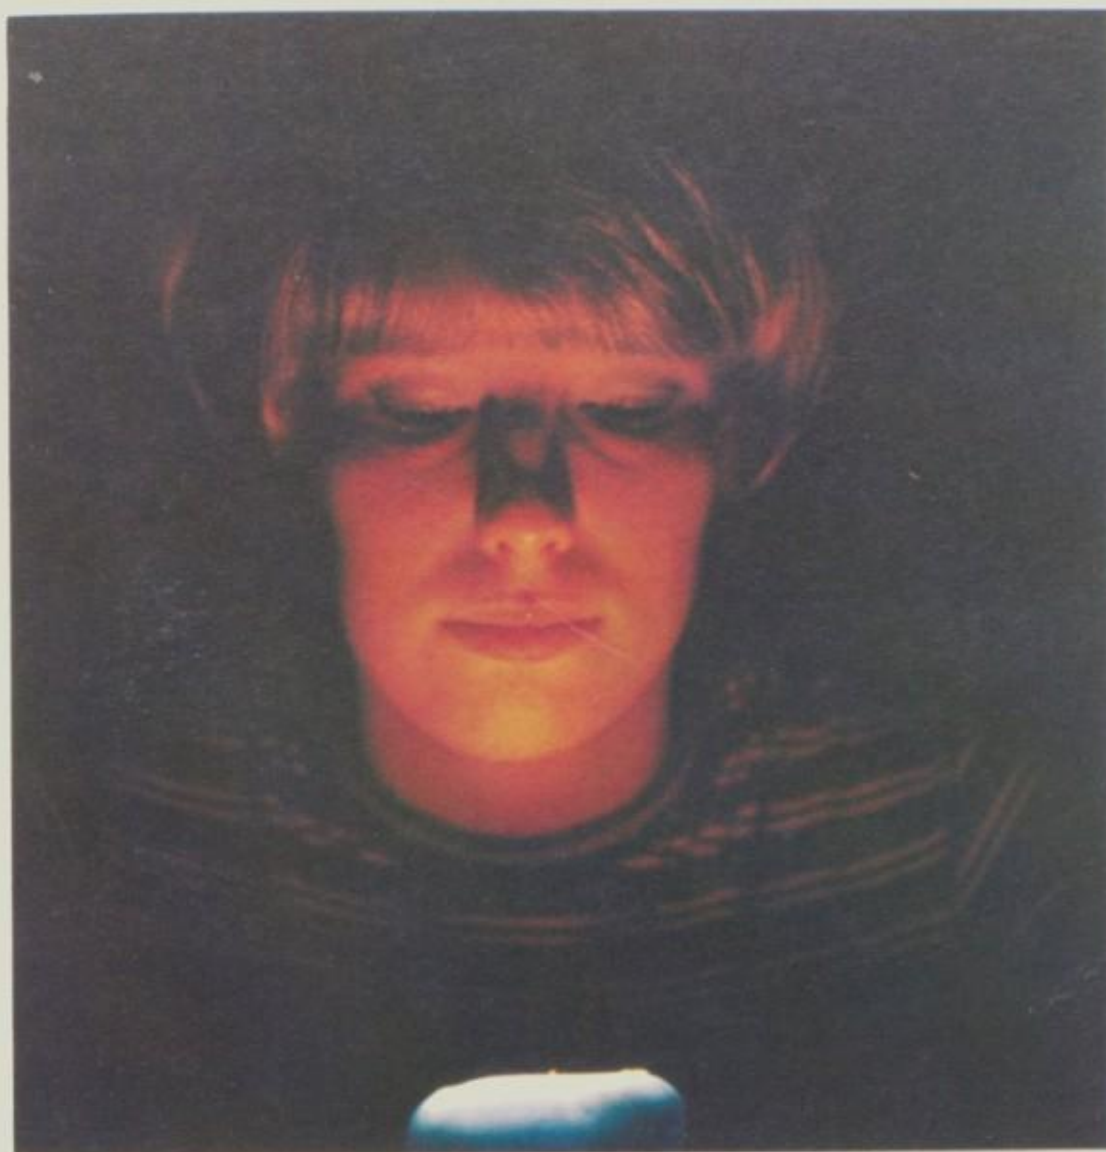

LONG AGO
IT MUST BE . . .

I can't seem to recall
When things were not like this,
For the memories are so clear
That they go back forever.
The places we visited
Soon became a part of us,
And never
Will they cease to be.
The people we knew
Never did become strangers;
For what we have known
Is what we have become.

I HAVE A PHOTOGRAPH

These pages
Preserving the essence
Of all things we have done
And all we may have seen
(From time of quiet meditation
To rousing cheers at rallies)
Have reminded us
Of the times together
When we grew
Not in stature,
But rather in our understanding.
And we learned
Not those things
That came from our books alone,
But from our lives together.

PRESERVE YOUR MEMORIES

I remember
Bits of paper
And a stuffed doll
On the bookcase in my room,
The cover of a book
And remnants of my favorite place
To go on Saturday.
These are the jewels of our youth,
Set in the golden bands of time—
Hold them dear;
They tell your story.

THEY'RE ALL THAT'S LEFT YOU

All these things
 (Unimportant to us now, perhaps)
 Will someday be
 Our remembrance of days gone by.
 As freshmen we wandered through the halls, lost and confused.
 Our sophomore year was fraught with worries,
 Yet sustained by hopes and promises of better things.
 We juniors united to realize the dreams
 Held dear, tight, by every senior.
 When in cap and gown we leave,
 All we will know
 Is what we have saved.

LIBRARIANS LEND BOOKS AND A HELPING HAND

The library becomes an active part of the student's life as he progresses on the road to learning. Throughout the four years, it is the student's privilege to put into practical use the services rendered by the library and its staff. Student librarians give up their study halls to help the librarians at the desks and periodical room. The library has some 10,000 volumes to offer the student for pleasure reading and research work.

Mrs. Hammack and Mrs. Bundy are always willing to devote time to the students' needs. The secretarial duties and the copying machine are some of the jobs handled by Mrs. Ruth Mills as school library secretary. She is also in charge of the audio-visual aids department.

STAFFS ARE FOUND WORKING MORNING, NOON, AND NIGHT AT HOOVER

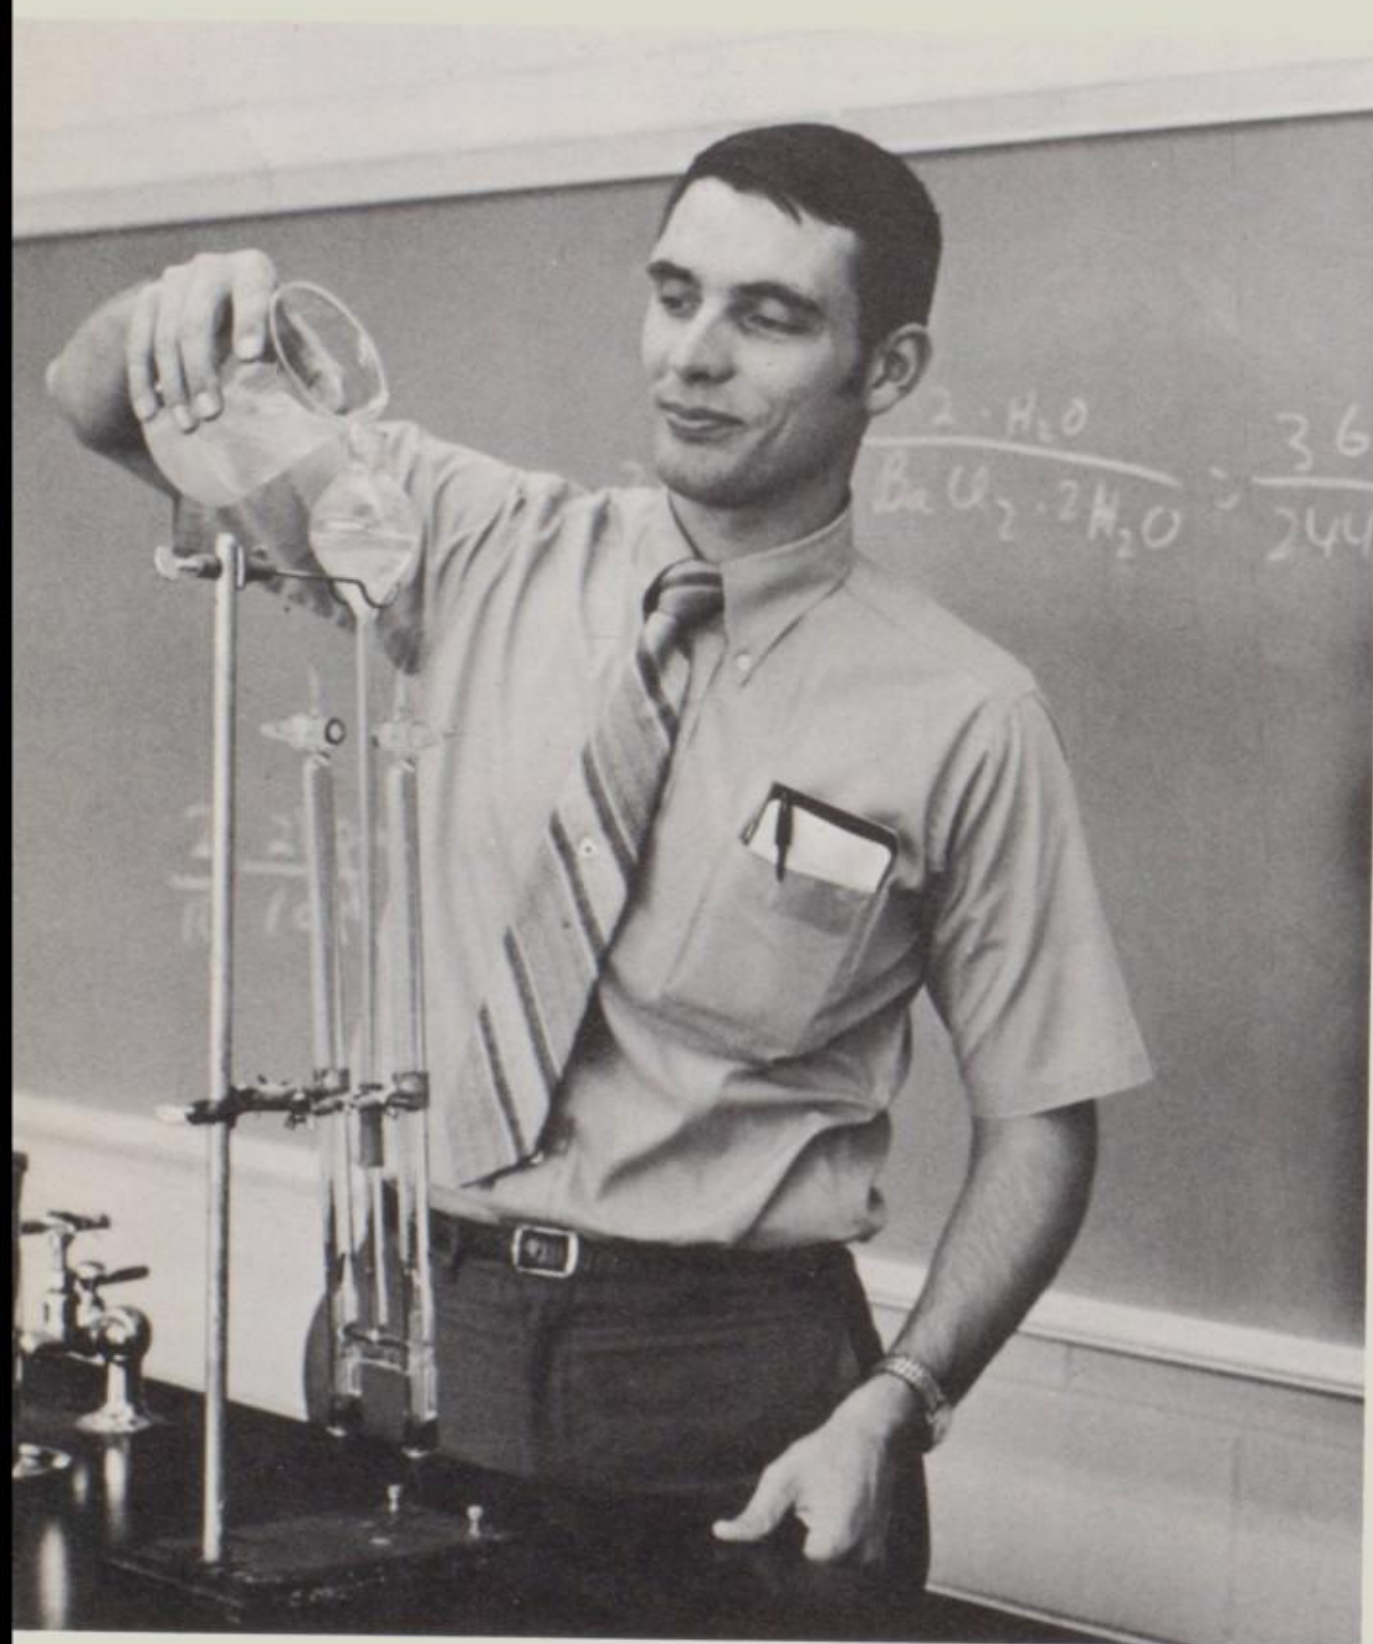

Keeping our school in top condition are custodians L. Kreiner, K. Willaman, B. Johns, A. Willaman, B. Carlson, J. Williams. Preparing and serving nutritious, appetizing meals for the hundreds of students who patronize the cafeteria are D. Ditch, P. Shriver, J. Reid, G. Robinson, R. Kandel, M. Weikel, E. Lingenfelter, J. Smith, B. Kingston, A. Brown, R. Stayer, D. Randel, J. Fisher, B. Willaman, S. Sturtz, G. Kliner, L. Martz, N. Montandon, L. Southworth.

Transporting students to school are bus drivers B. Lauby, E. Paige, A. Warfield, H. Rudersmith, I. Allen, P. Levengood, J. Hirschman, S. Sturtz, A. Montandon, R. Polka.

CAPABLE STAFF REVEALS SECRETS OF OUR OWN MYSTERIOUS WORLD

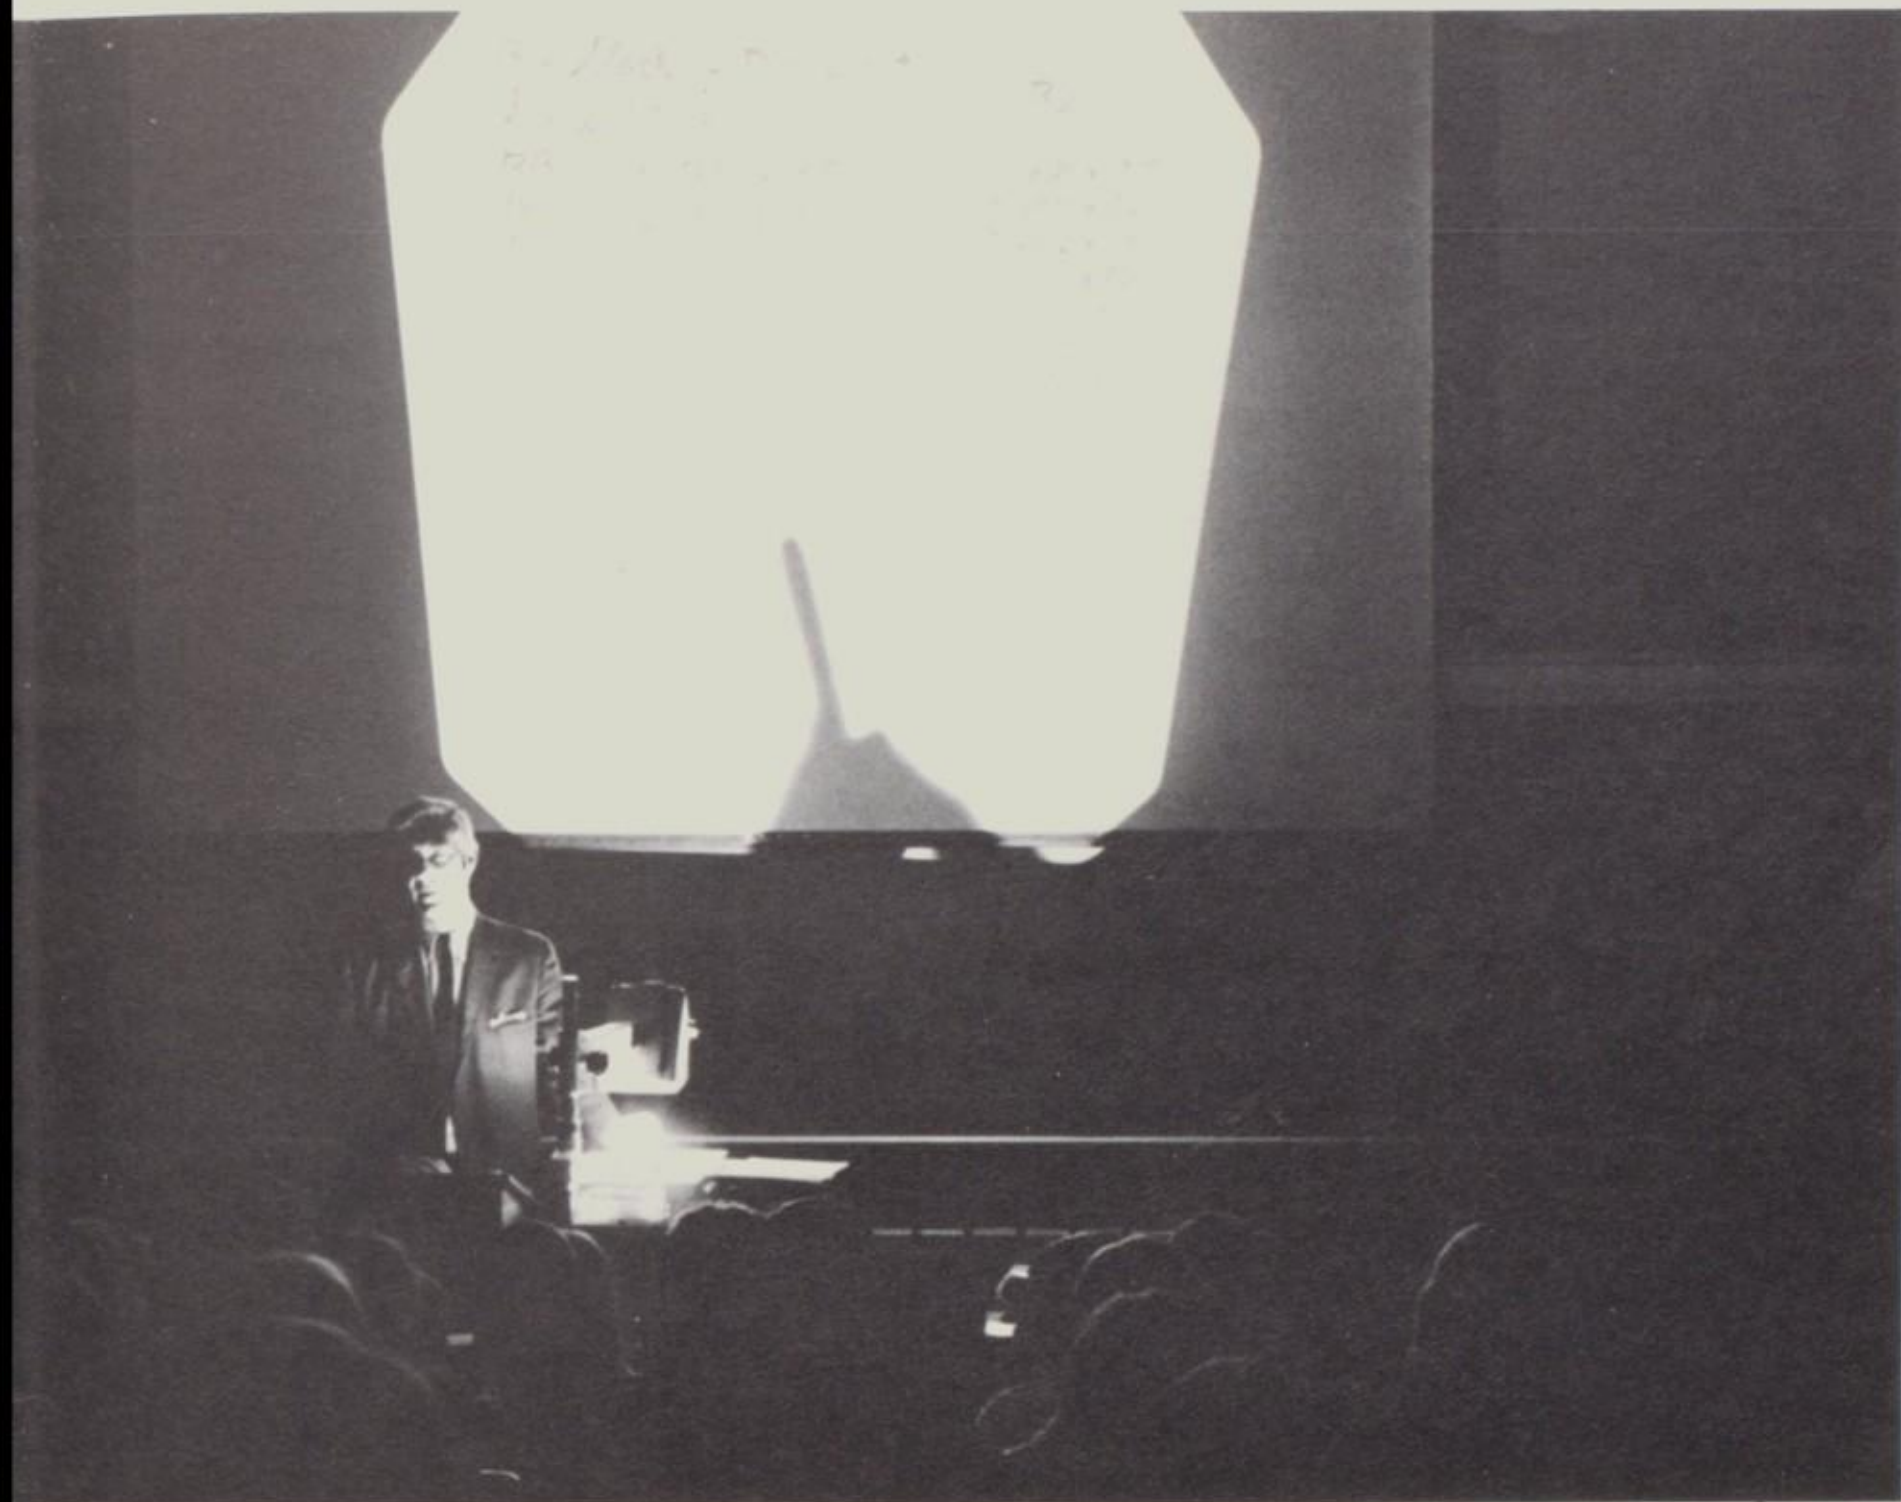

Laboratory reports and lecture notes characterize the science curriculum. Biology, chemistry, earth science, general science, and physics courses are open to students. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Dobson the science department maintained, for the most part, its traditional structure. A significant change did occur in that Mr. Dobson became the teacher of both Harvard Physics and PSSC, while Mr. Morrison was added to the staff as an instructor in general science.

Mr. Hobe carefully measures out the chemicals for the experiment to the exact quantity. Careful observation gives a more distinct view of science experiments.

The discovery of modern equipment has greatly aided man in the science world.

Mr. Gray explains the complicated process of heredity in biology lecture. Although scientists have discovered many facts about this subject, it still holds many questions.

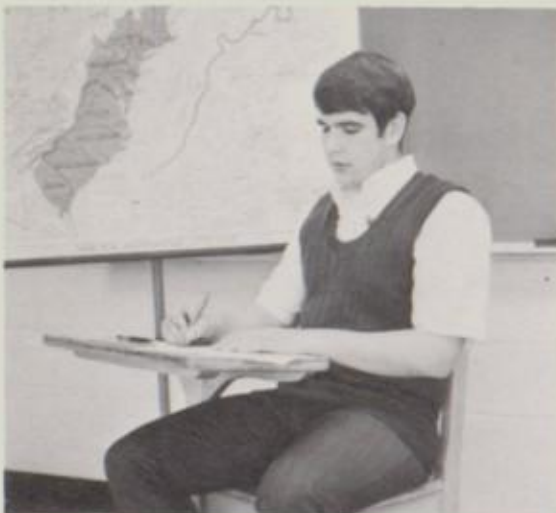

Seniors Tim Suhrer, Randy Linquist, and Dave Miller accurately experiment with the theory of centripetal acceleration in their physics class.

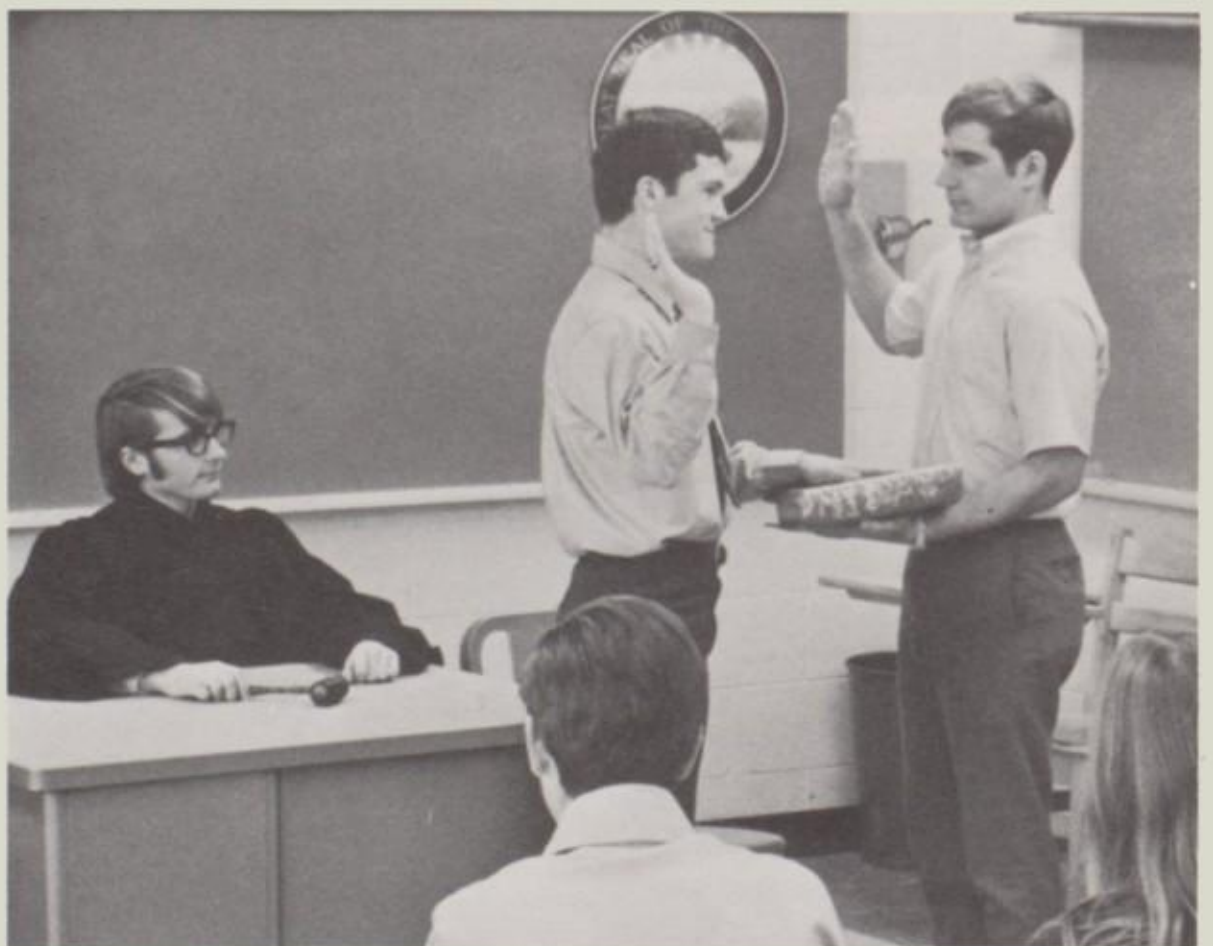

TEACHERS HAVE A KNOWLEDGE OF PAST, PRESENT,

The Social Studies Department gives the student a chance to view our country, its government, the world around us, and the problems everyone, at sometime, must face.

Junior Mike Coyle learns about the country he lives in as he draws a map for history.

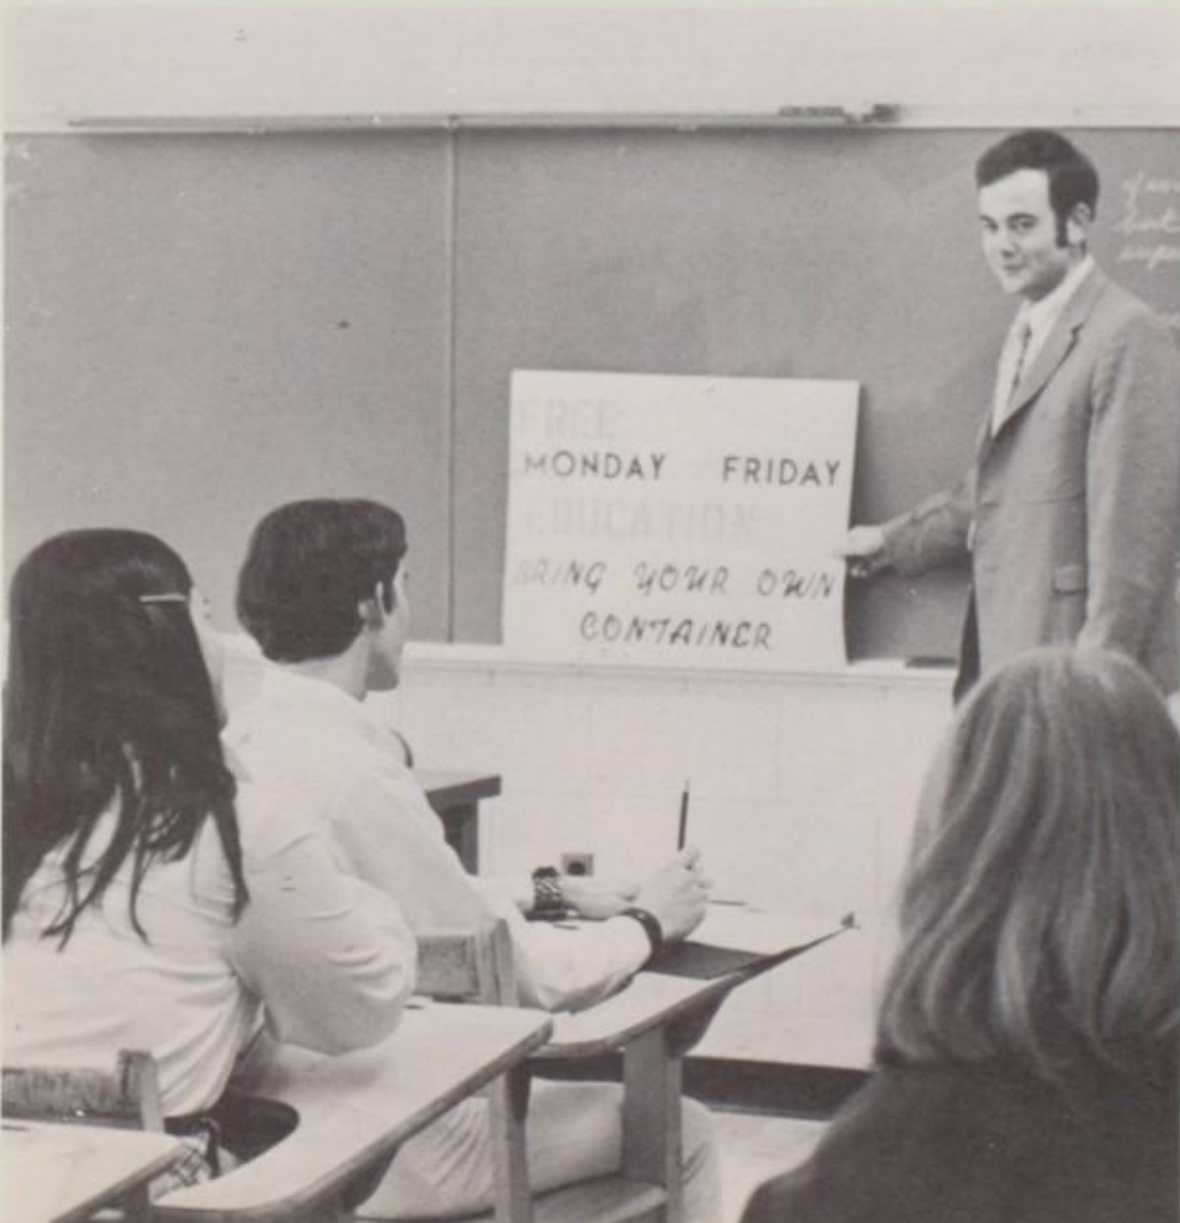

Mr. Clarke's American Government classes held classroom trials to give them a more distinct view of the Judicial Branch of our state's complex government.

AND A PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE.

The basic direction taken by the Social Studies courses was one of student involvement. Making discussions more of an expression of views and opinions, rather than mere recitation of facts from memory was the object. Class activities, such as mock trials and legislatures, were all important parts of this trend. By acting out the procedures studied, situations became more real, as well as providing some laughter. Of special note was the addition of a new section to the American Government course devoted to the study of the rise and basis of Communistic thought. From this, it is hoped students will learn to formulate opinions after careful study of an issue.

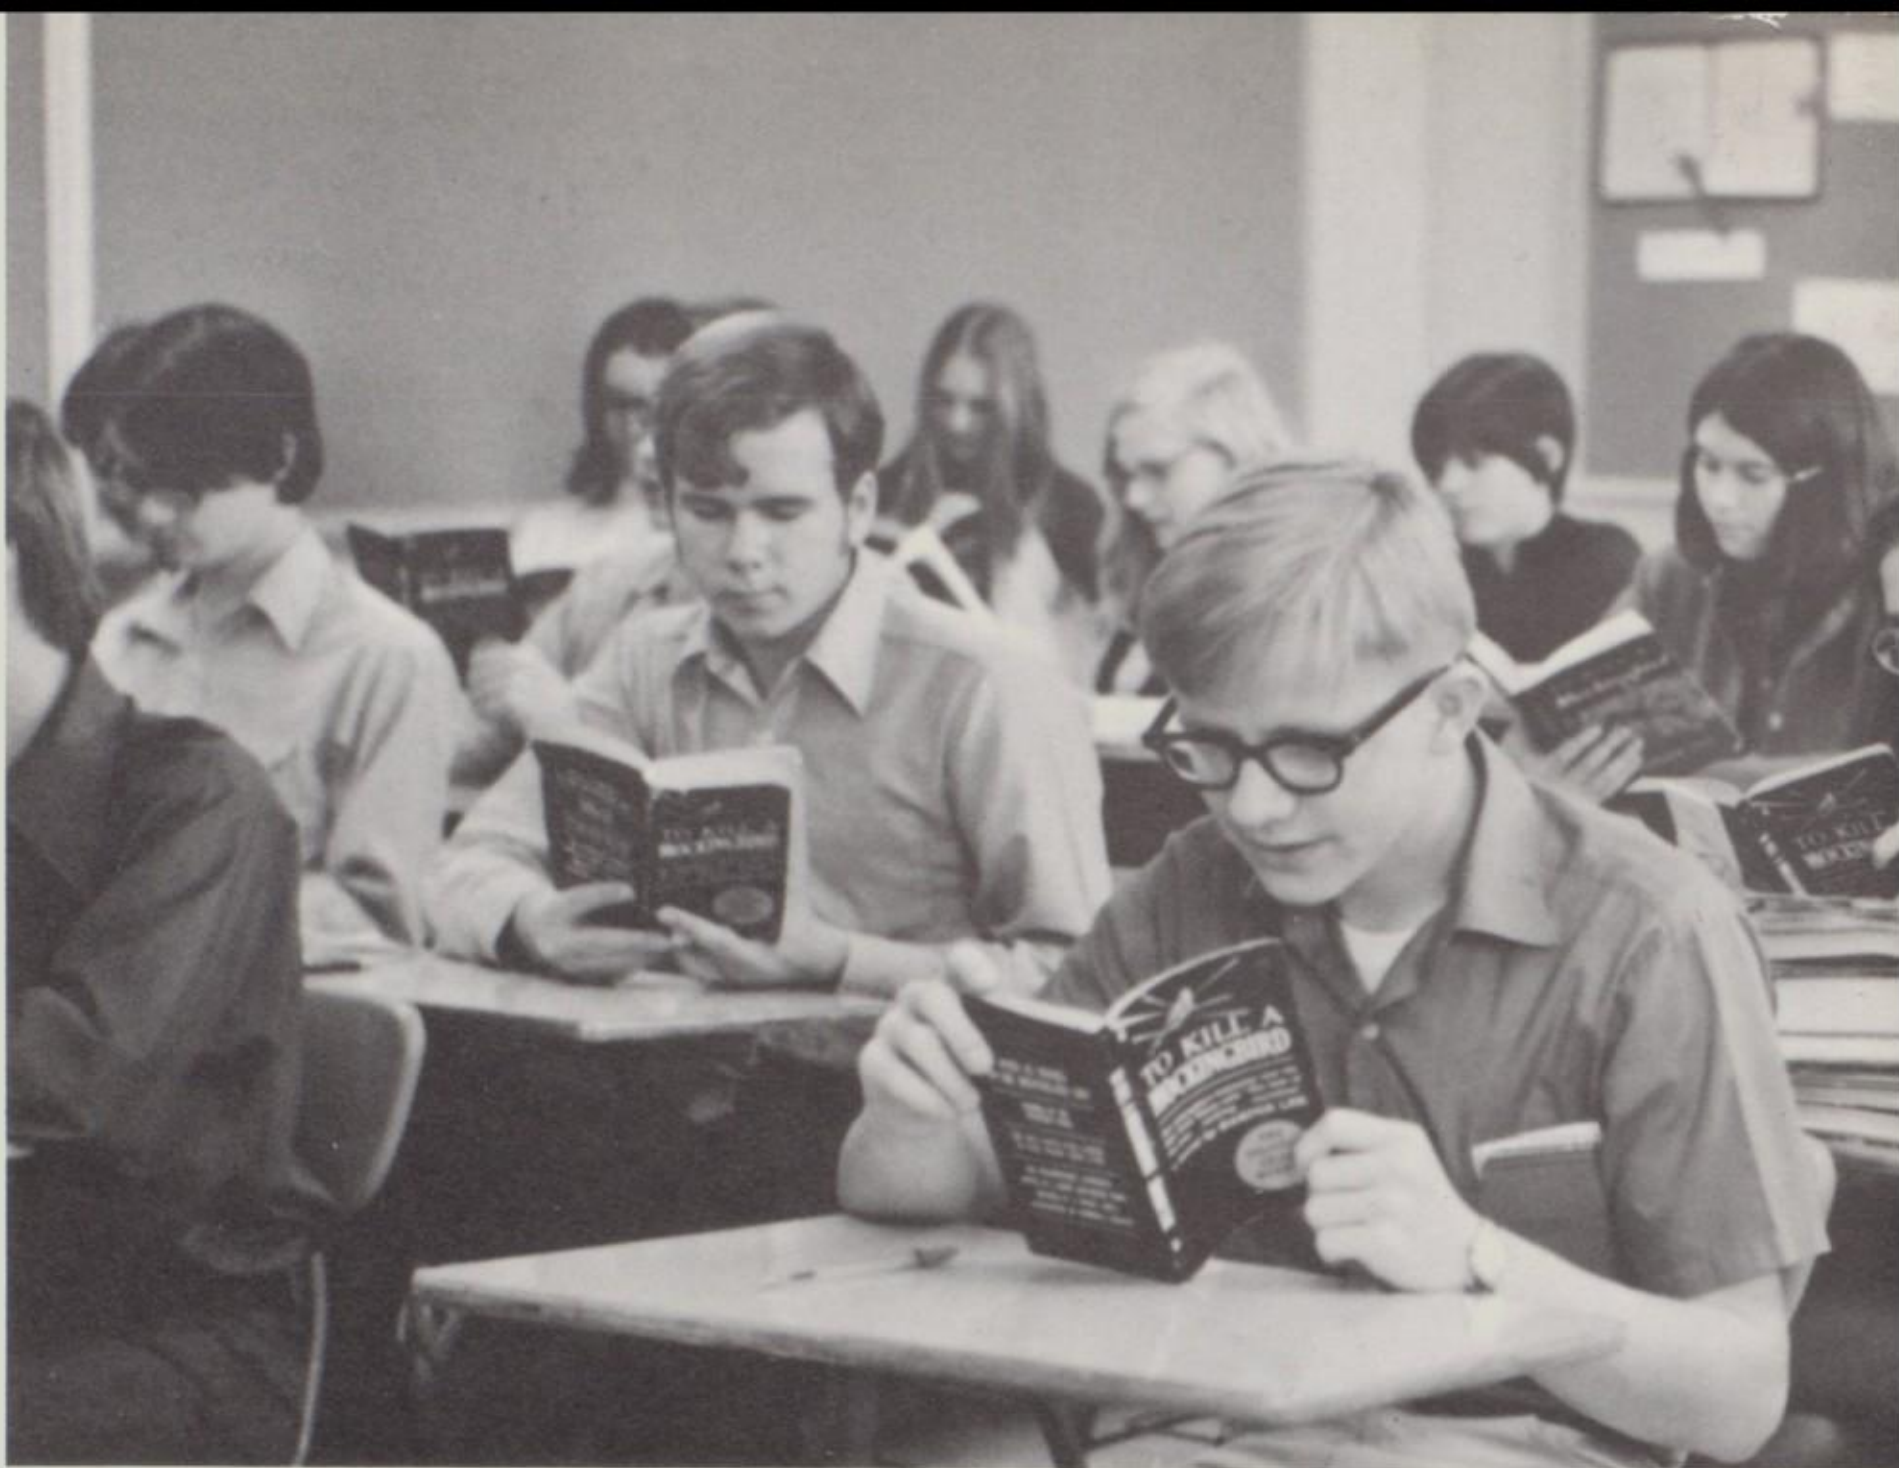

Miss Bambaugh, a new teacher at Hoover this year, aids Carol DiRuscio by giving her helpful suggestions for her American History homework.

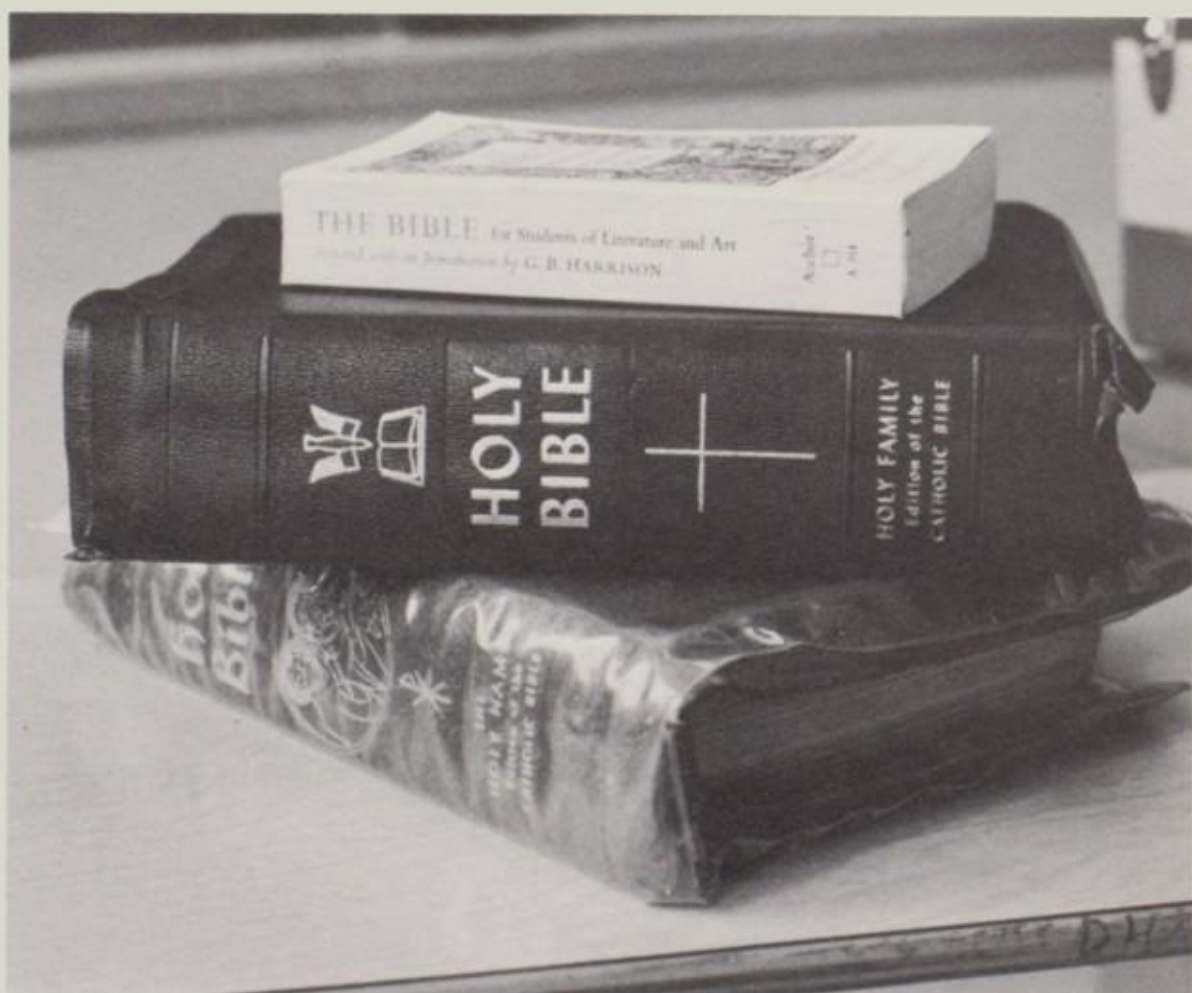

Students look on as Mr. Stortz explains one of the posters for Contemporary Problems.

The World Culture class of Mr. Kieffer discusses customs of the Renaissance Period.

Mr. Walker's sophomore English class studies the novel To Kill a Mockingbird with careful discussion following. Students find precise study gives them a better understanding.

The Bible as literature is a new course offering in the English department at Hoover this year. The students discuss parables with a literary point of view.

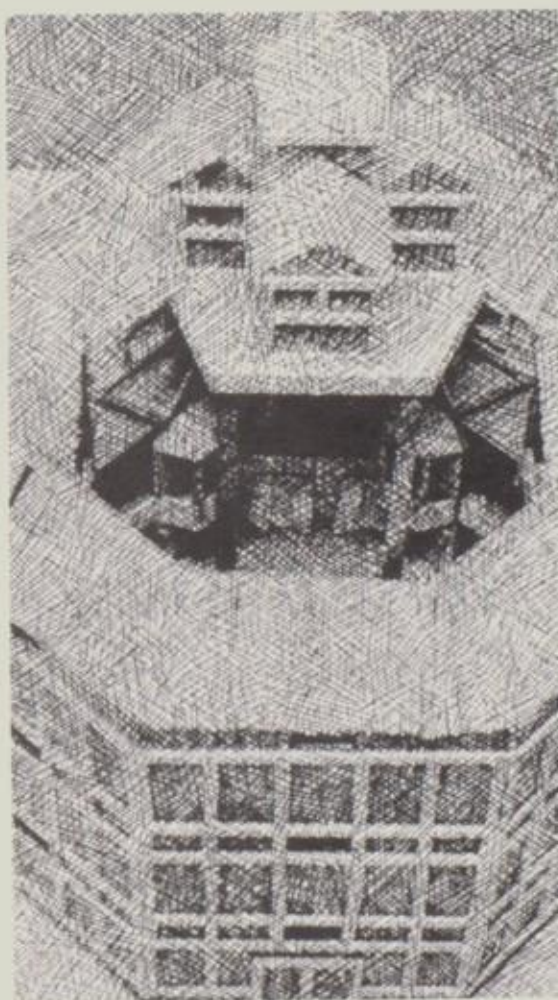

THE ABILITY TO COMMUNICATE IN VARIED MEDIA BECOMES HIGHLY POLISHED

Teachers in the English Department have had the advantage of wisdom gained through experience; all have taught at Hoover for at least three years. In addition to revealing the intricacies of the English language and exposing profound philosophies to their students, the teachers' chief goal has been to give students the ability to communicate effectively in writing and in speaking. A new course, The Bible as Literature, was added to the senior elective program.

Helping to achieve the goal of effective communication are speech and journalism classes. Students have learned the secrets of public speaking in speech and have applied their journalistic knowledge in Viking Views.

Mr. McDowell's speech students learn the benefits of proper speaking habits.

The "Wooden O" model helps English literature students understand Shakespearean drama.

Journalism classes know it takes careful planning to produce a successful newspaper.

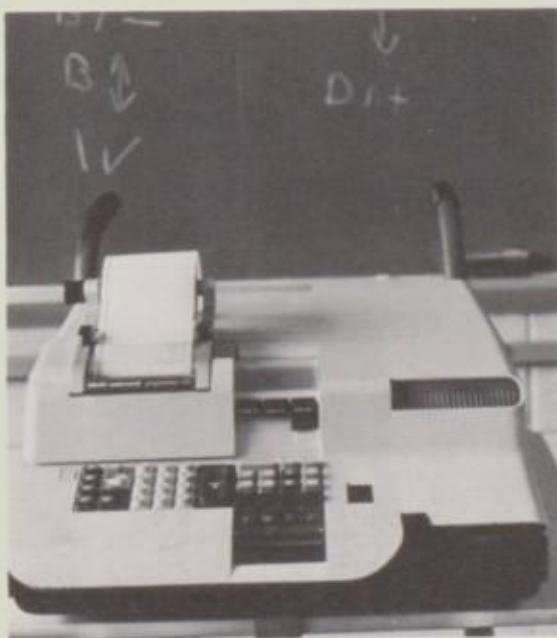

MATHEMATICS IS A SCIENCE OF INTENSE ACCURACY AND LOGIC

Students were better prepared to meet their future needs through the efforts of the math department. The multi-leveled math program complied with the abilities of every individual. The computer was used in Algebra II classes this year to aid students in learning how this mathematical machine operates. Mr. McHan used a new book in one of his classes that may be adopted in Algebra I classes next year. Mr. Kauth taught Algebra I and General Math. Fundamentals of Math I and II, an expanded Algebra I course, was a new addition to our curriculum. New books and modern methods were investigated to provide students with the best and most modern mathematical education possible.

Mr. Mattachione gives helpful aid to one of his Trigonometry and College Algebra students. He is one of the many teachers who aids students with helpful advice.

This computer is mightier than it may appear. It has solved many problems in mathematics.

Senior Mathematics students Dave Kienzle and David Walters explain to the class one of the assigned problems.

EFFICIENT HOMEMAKING IS AN ACQUIRED SKILL

The Home Ec Department this year has undergone several basic changes. Following guidelines set by the State of Ohio, the department established a vocational program in which sophomores, juniors, and seniors may participate. By the end of the school year, each girl will have completed three projects pertaining to her course of study and involving her family. The teachers have assisted by visiting the families and conferring with the girls.

Home Economics students are given the privilege of sampling their latest concoctions, such as these freshly baked Christmas cookies that the girls are icing.

Mrs. Griel aids junior Bonnie Eaver with a blouse she is working on in class.

PRACTICAL SKILLS ARE LEARNED

Metalworking, drafting, and woodworking continued to give practical experience to students. Students were given a chance to build, draw, and experiment with their subject. Graphic Arts offered a vocational program with courses such as operation of process cameras, plate making, binding, letterpress operation, and a vast number of others. The program, offered to sophomores, juniors, and seniors, prepared Hoover boys for graphic technology.

Modern machines in woodshop enable students to work more efficiently. The lathe permits students to form various decorative patterns on the pieces of wood.

Ken Cross and Tom Lovelace carefully plan and calculate their required project for print shop. These students have the job of printing schedules and other papers for the school.

The drill press leads a long and tiring life of drilling in wood and metal shop.

CULTURAL INTERESTS ARE FOSTERED AND THRIVE

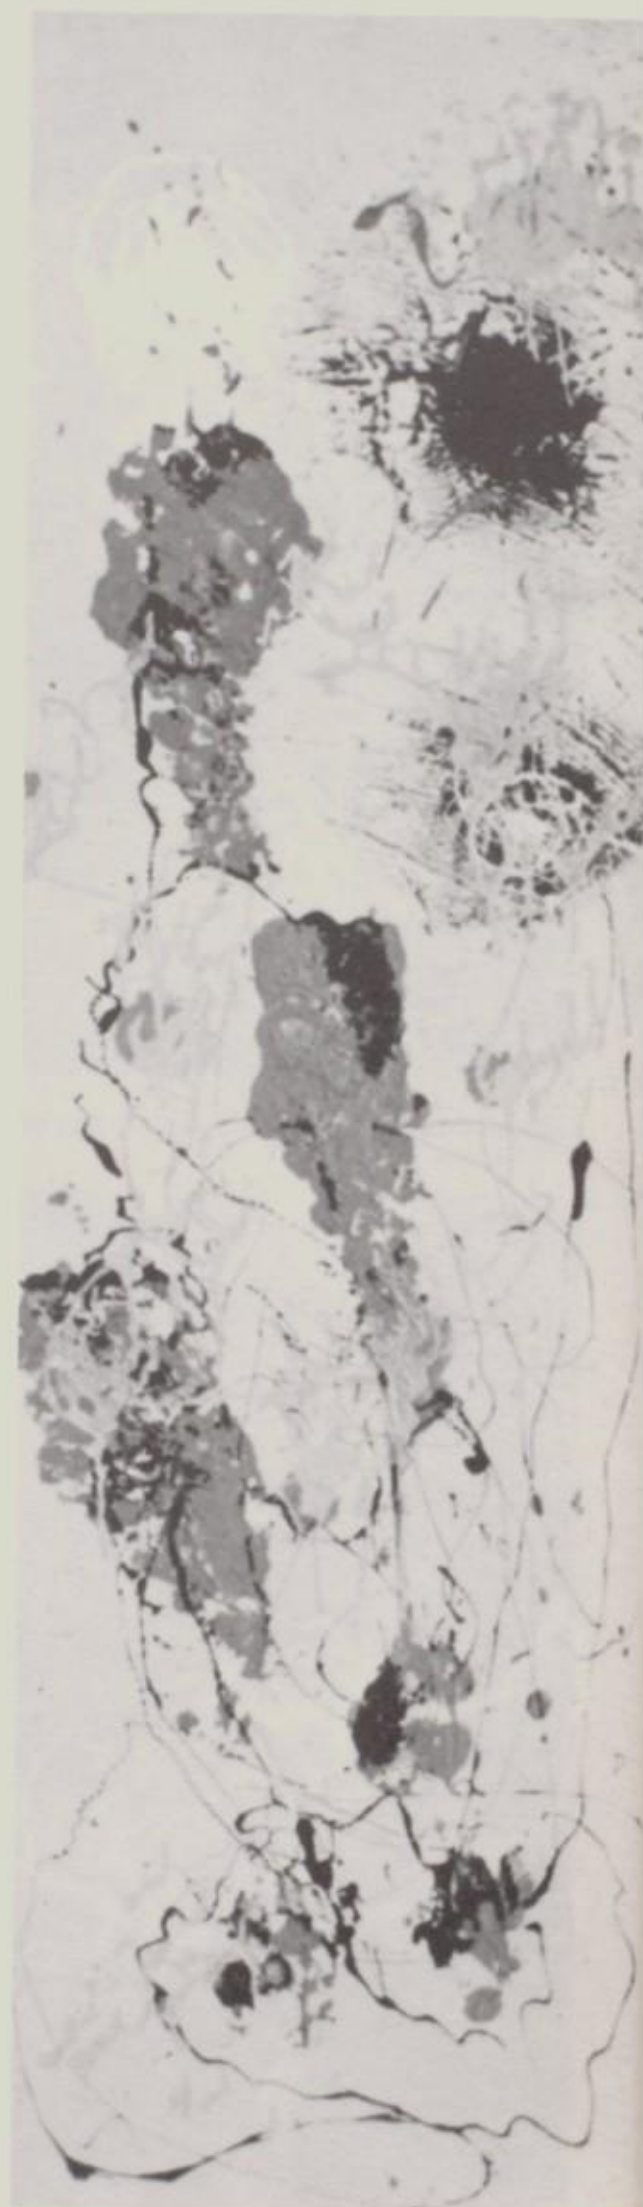

Special extra-curricular projects of Hoover's art students include drawing pencil sketches of the senior football players and color portraits of the senior basketball starters. The artists also transform the gym into a beautiful, unforgettable setting for the Prom and Homecoming and create a charming atmosphere in the main lobby at Christmas. Fourth-year students complete an advertising project which includes design, magazine and newspaper layout, and TV commercials.

Senior Diane Guenther puts forth her initiative as she shapes a flask on the potter's wheel in Art IV. Imagination and a steady hand are needed to produce an effective product.

Darrel Goad adds finishing touches to his still-life oil painting, a class project.

The artist is basically free to build upon his talents and inner feelings in his work.

PHYSICAL SKILL IS IMPORTANT

The girls' gym classes have been characterized by an ever-present urge to compete in the various sports, an enthusiasm for gymnastics, and a keen interest in modern dance. The boys' gym classes have emphasized active participation in sports ranging from soccer to tennis, encouraging fitness and self-improvement.

In girls' and boys' health classes, students discussed topics they researched. These included organ transplants, athletic injuries, and diet fads.

Sophomore boys practice their basketball techniques in a competitive game between two classes, gaining early experience in sportsmanship and rivalry.

Freshman girls display a sudden burst of energy as they limber into various tumbling stunts. A variety of these basic stunts can be made into a well-organized routine.

BILINGUALS FIND STUDIES FUN

Laboratory practice, dramatic presentation and classical readings were all parts of the language program at Hoover. Everything from Cinderella to Schweitzer and Virgil to Jean Valjean occupied students' time and minds. In all of our three modern languages, the emphasis is placed on verbal communication in the preliminary levels, then switched to the study of literature in the more advanced stages. Latin, our only classical offering, gives students an understanding of the Roman myths while translating from the original. A major can now be acquired in all four languages with the addition of Spanish III. The diversification of reading matter is easily seen in the third and fourth levels of German, where both "Peanuts" and Shakespearean plays are available in translation. The departments' efforts to modernize pay off well, resulting in greater interest in advanced studies.

Miss Martin displays a sombrero and poncho to her class. The students get a broader idea of another country's customs, and often see a connection between our country and others.

The study of foreign languages brings the participating students closer to the country which they are studying. Students learn to appreciate the uniqueness of other nations.

Passive Periphrastic Conjugation:
 sum used with Future Passive agendus est Participle
 He must Act

Second year Latin students receive more perspective of the ancient language as Mr. Marchand explains the periphrastic conjugation.

Language laboratory gives extra practice to language students. Mrs. Ream plays tapes that follow up the previous class lesson to give students a more definite grasp.

SECRETARIES PRACTICE TO OBTAIN NECESSARY

The business education program at Hoover includes sophomores, juniors, and seniors. As sophomores, girls in business education are required to take typing and must elect either record keeping or bookkeeping. Junior girls must decide to follow the secretarial program or clerical office work, and seniors complete this course by graduation. The value of Hoover's business education is proven by the fact that all participants are qualified for a stenographic-office job or clerical office work immediately after June graduation.

Cindy Robertson gives Mary Hill a few suggestions on her class paper. Girls of Senior Secretarial often give each other assistance during these trial times of learning.

PROFICIENCY

Adding machines gave clerical students an idea of what will be expected of them in the business world. Long lists of numerals can be solved in a few minutes.

Future secretaries can often be found working hard after the normal school hours.

Students in secretarial classes get an early start at filing by using cabinets for work.

Mrs. Herrington teaches shorthand and accuracy. These Junior Secretarial students know that concentration and patience are definite requirements to keep in mind.

CLASSES

SENIORS ELECT RELIABLE OFFICERS

When September first arrived, the juniors from last year could officially call themselves seniors. Each student seemed to have his own ideas about becoming a senior. When a boy was asked how he felt about his new position, he replied, "The seniors exercise a certain amount of power over the underclassmen. We set the standards which the other students follow." Time marches on and so does the senior class. As their high school education draws to an end, they prepare themselves to take that giant leap into the surrounding world.

Facing the seniors are many new responsibilities, experiences, and privileges. College life lies ahead for 60% of the graduating class. Others will serve their country in the armed forces. The remaining will enter the business world and tackle a job of interest to themselves. Hopefully, Graduation Day will only mark the beginning of a lifetime of learning—all learning how to live and love.

when all good things must come to an end. Good Luck,
Seniors.

JUNIORS RELISH NEW ROLE AS UPPERCLASSMEN

Many new leaders rose from the ranks of the junior class. Club organizations became more meaningful as some juniors helped to change the layout of clubs. One such person was Dave Ferguson, president of the newly organized Science Club. Next year the juniors will polish their qualities as seniors.

One of the most exciting responsibilities given to the junior class was planing the junior-senior prom. Under the leadership of Ed Trumpeter, class president, the class recaptured the sparkling setting of a South Sea Island.

Junior class officers running headlong into the prom are JoAnne Sturiale, treasurer; Ed Trumpeter, president; Linda Anderson, historian; Arlene Weeks, secretary. Jeff Waltman, vice-president, is absent.

JUNIOR CLASS HELPS TO CELEBRATE LUDWIG'S

One tedious assignment given to the American History classes was completing a skeleton map of the United States. Because American History is a requirement for juniors, thirteen classes were scheduled to accommodate the students.

During times of boredom, when the teacher's drooning voice turned into a murmuring machine, many juniors found that doodling in their notes relieved the fatigue. Who knows—maybe this was how Rembrandt started.

MATT OBEY HOLDS REINS OF SOPHOMORE CLASS

With one year of high school under their belts, the sophomores returned to Hoover for their second year. Although they were not as experienced as the upperclassmen, they were far from being amateurs. Eric Escola, one of the few sophomores on the varsity football team, ran 83 yards to score in the Toledo Scott game.

Not only were the sophomores represented in sports, but they also found their places in A'Cappella Choir. The only sophomore having a speaking part in the musical play, Carousel, was David Pace. The Class of '73 proudly presented The People vs. Maxine Lowe, in which the leading role was played by Jody Mathie. By combining their many talents, the sophomores produced a well-rounded class.

Class officers challenging each other to a tug-of-war are Matt Obey, president; Julie Willaman, treasurer; Marcia Ellsworth, historian; Mark Lukens, secretary. Dave Faller, vice president, is absent.

FROSH FIND FIRST YEAR FUN BUT CHALLENGING

As expected, the freshmen entered Hoover this year as beginners of a new pattern of life. Whatever attitudes and patterns they developed this year will most likely be carried on through their next three years of high school.

Many opportunities were given to the freshman to guide them toward progress. Even though they did not qualify for a varsity team or A'Cappella Choir, they showed much enthusiasm for the areas in which their work was required. The boys took part in different sports in which they would not compete against the upperclassmen. With improved skills, the freshmen were ready to step to a higher scholastic level.

Riding into their freshman year as class officers were Stephenie Baker as vice president; Jeff Jones as president; Joan Gulling as historian; Tim Brown as secretary; Dena Berry as treasurer.

STUDENT LIFE

PLEASANT DIVERSIONS CREATE AN ATMOSPHERE FOR AN UNBEATABLE STUDENT LIFE

During the 1970-1971 year, the word "school" brought to mind classes, tests, and sometimes even education. But also in the life of the student were many incidental occurrences. Maybe at the time most of these odds and ends didn't mean a whole lot. They were quickly pushed aside for bigger and better things. Perhaps someday, one of these little golden moments will come to mind and also the realization that "these were the days."

Many long, but fun, hours of work go into preparing for the prom. These girls will often remember the prom of their junior year—making scarecrows, painting scenery, and finally "the" night.

The efforts of some members of the class of 1971 will long be in evidence at Hoover.

Before the Toledo Scott game, the team will run through the hoop which cheerleaders Marsha Pratt and Fran Piatt are holding. The enthusiasm shown at football games will be another great memory.

Is the class learning an abstract theory, or are they having another "illegal" party?

One assembly that was really worth getting out of class for was the one presented by Charles King. Having the audience actually participate makes his a unique performance.

SCHOOL PLAYS REFLECT TALENT

The high school year is always brightened by the theatrical and musical productions put on by the students. In November the A'Cappella choir presented Carousel. The show, being a combined effort by the choir and orchestra, resulted in a huge success.

There was something new in "show biz" at Hoover this year. The sophomores put on the play, The People Versus Maxine Lowe. This "first" in Hoover theatrics proved that there is much acting ability in the sophomore class.

This was Carousel's most tragic moment, as Julie weeps over her dead husband Billy.

The singing and acting leads of Carousel were Ken Swickard as Billy, Cindy Pace as Julie, Debby Define as Nettie, Ralph Shipley as Enoch Snow, and Lorrie Weeks as Carrie (Mrs. Enoch Snow).

"June is bustin' out all over—the sapiins are bustin' out with sap—love has found my brother junior—and my sister's even lunier—and Ma is gettin' kittenish with Pap—Because it's June."

One of the key witnesses to the murder was Minnie Strausson. Here, played by Renie Sponseller, she is cross-examined by the defense attorney, Tim Baker, as the judge, Scott Davis, looks on.

"But Enoch, he wasn't carrying me out of the woods! He was carrying me into the woods!"

When Billy reaches the back door of heaven he demands to see the "highest judge of all."

HOOVER QUEENS DECORATE FESTIVE OCCASIONS

Chosen by the team were the 1970 Track Queens. They added grace to track events, where they presented the winners with awards.

Highlighting a year of hard work is the Band Prom. Faith Weston was the 1970 queen. Her attendants were selected from the different classes. "A Night at the Academy Awards" was the theme for the Spring Sing. Queen Jennifer Herdlicka and her court were picked from the various choirs.

Representing the freshman, junior, sophomore, and senior classes respectively for the 1970 track season are Jeanne Baker, Pam Patterson, Joanne Sturiale, and Sue Holdren.

Reigning over the 1970 Band Prom were Shelly Morath, freshman; Debbie Wolfe, senior; Faith Weston, Queen; Connie Howes, junior; and Laura Lafferty, sophomore.

COUPLES FOLLOW THE YELLOW BRICK ROAD TO

The dance provides special moments for being together and for making memories.

Cheryl Petros and her escort, Alan Anderson, "follow the yellow brick road" to Emerald City. There, Cheryl will be in the Queen's Royal Court and will witness the coronation ceremony.

Prom queen and her Royal Court were Pam Patterson, junior attendant; Suzie McLinden, senior attendant; Cindy Haidet, queen; Judy Virsack, senior attendant; and Cheryl Petros, junior attendant.

ENCHANTING EVENING IN OZ

Last year the Land of Oz did not enchant Dorothy and her friends. Instead, it created a magical evening for the many couples who attended the 1970 Junior-Senior Prom. The couples danced in Munchkin Land, while Queen Cindy, with her court, reigned from her throne in Emerald City.

After the dance, the festivities were transferred to the Canton Jewish Center. Swimming, movies, and entertainment by the 8 Foot Clearance continued through the night.

Most couples braved the rainy day on Sunday and went picnicking in order to draw out their memorable weekend to the last possible moment.

Sophomores Kathy Smiley and Lauren Revoldt, serve refreshments and wistfully think about the prom of 1971, when they will be wearing beautiful formals instead of Munchkin costumes.

Juniors enjoy the fun of decorating and especially the getting out of class to do it.

Queen Cindy Haidet, was crowned by the junior class president, Darrel Goad, and then reigned during the evening's activities.

GIRLS ADD INCENTIVE TO WIN

Homecoming weekend is always the bright spot of the football season and this year was no exception. Queen Julie Baker and her court were first presented to the student body during the pep rally on Friday. In the evening there was the traditional victory "caravan" from the school to the stadium. Then, the crowning of the queen took place during the pre-game ceremony.

Our Vikings gave more reason for it to be a festive weekend by defeating Oakwood 38 to 7. The dance on Saturday night, which carried out the theme of football, topped off the exciting weekend.

Senior attendant and exchange student, Belinda Simpson, watches as Hoover downs Oakwood.

The members of the 1970 Court were Patty Grandjean, freshman; Cindy Rohr, junior; Julie Baker, queen; Belinda Simpson, senior; and Debby Staley, sophomore. Gabi Starcher was the 1969 queen.

HOMECOMING QUEEN JULIE BAKER

SQUADS AROUSE SPIRIT TO WIN

"We're behind you, team!" These are the cheerleaders, full of pep and energy. One sees them at every football and basketball game, cheering their team on in victory and defeat. Being a cheerleader not only involves the fun and excitement of games but also hard work and long hours of practice. At the summer camps Varsity placed first in their session and the Reserve squad fourth in competition. Through skits and posters, the girls reveal their various other talents.

Practice makes perfect. With the Varsity team as their goal, Reserve cheerleaders show enthusiasm and skill. They are (left to right): F. Piatt, D. Staley, J. Hill, J. Herdlicka, C. Losch.

With the crowds and cheering in the background, M. Pratt and K. Holdren watch the game closely.

Concealing any fear or nervousness are Connie Bowen, Linda Arnold, and Sandy Trachsel, who stand at attention. They are well prepared and know the band is behind them.

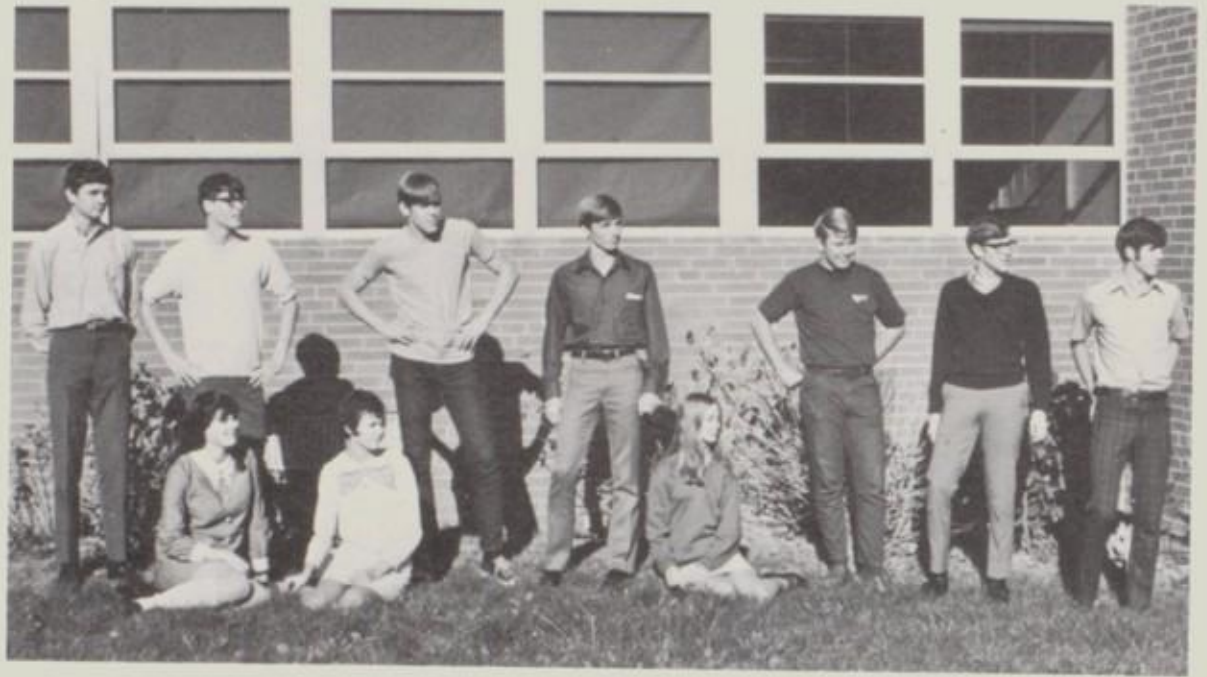

Majorettes S. Smith, A. Weeks, M. Burgoon, L. Lafferty, S. Trachsel, L. Arnold, And C. Bowen

Sporting new outfits and uniforms, Hoover's majorettes met the challenge of half-time entertainment. Routines ranged from hat and cane shows to fire batons. These girls also performed at pep rallies and basketball games. Headed by Laura Lafferty, the line marched in the Hall of Fame and Louisville Constitution Day parades, and various others throughout the area. Each member of the squad contributed her individual talent to make this year's line one of creativity.

OUTSTANDING STUDENTS NOTED FOR SCHOLASTIC ACHIEVEMENTS

Each spring, four students from each subject are selected to take the final scholarship examination at Malone College. These students compete against their own classmates and students from all over Ohio. As usual, Hoover had good results and many of our representatives received excellent ratings. Two students who gained recognition were Greg Seibert, with a fifth in the state in biology, and Steve Mason, who was seventh in the state in physics.

Representing Hoover in mathematics were J. Vestal, D. Kienzle, B. Kerman, J. Harrison, J. White, L. Brown, K. Hawkins, J. Mathie, S. Russell, and E. Rowland.

Taking the scholarship tests in Latin, Spanish, German, and French were D. Ferguson, C. Martin, C. Shuster, L. Revoldt, B. Clouser, K. Matejka, B. Ferry, C. Youtz, C. Marlowe, L. Dumas, H. Stahler, P. Quinn, D. Tannehill, J. Hill, B. Kolarik, and D. Honold.

Competing in knowledge of social studies were D. Morris, D. Pace, J. Owens, and T. Suhrer.

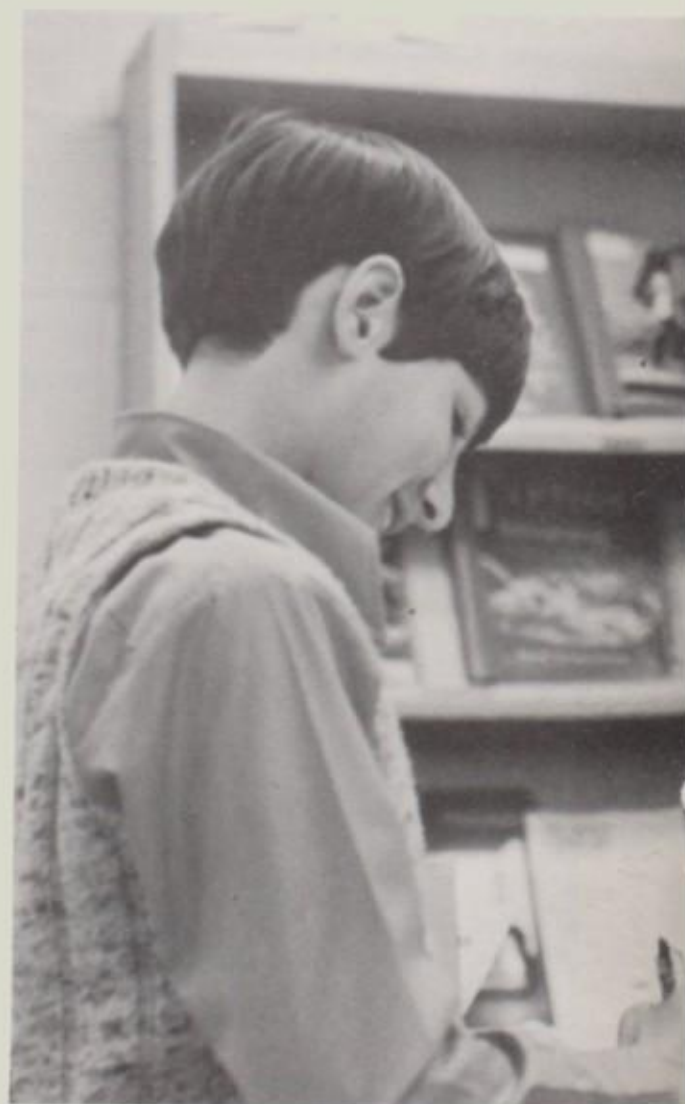

Those who took scholarship tests in the various areas of science were P. Moore, G. Seibert, M. Mohler, D. Walters, R. Shipley, D. Pickard, W. Joliet, and S. Packa.

The English Department had several students rating in the district and state. The representatives were M. Lazich, M. Druckenbrod, L. Smith, J. Kabala, B. Hertler, M. Santelle, and T. Powell.

Student aides in the attendance office run errands, page students in classes, and do any odd jobs that need done. In the absence of the secretary, Sue Cahill takes a message on the telephone.

AIDES PROVE INDISPENSABLE

Walking the halls of Hoover are many unsung heroes. These persons put in many hours each day performing services that are usually taken for granted. The jobs they do vary in size and importance, but all are necessary to the smooth running of the school.

Approximately 21 girls help as office aides in the main office and the attendance office, and 26 girls work each day as aides to the librarians.

Sue Berg makes a list of those "lucky" students who must appear before Mr. Dieringer.

Student librarian, Sally Comanescue, assists students in checking out their books.

INTEGRITY, CHARACTER, AND SCHOLARSHIP ARE DEMONSTRATED BY STUDENTS

Three junior girls and two junior boys were chosen to attend Girls' State and Boys' State. They spent a week during the summer experiencing self-government. The groups of students were divided into cities and political parties. They imitated every aspect of real state government.

Hoover is fortunate this year to have four foreign exchange students. The three Rotary Exchange Students are Belinda Simpson from New Zealand, Mariana Muse from Chile, and Ken Saguchi from Japan. Ute Schuller came as a private exchange student from Germany.

Five National Merit Scholarship Semi-finalists were chosen from Hoover. In nationwide competition these students had outstanding ratings and are eligible to compete for finalist status and for scholarships.

Hoover's representatives at Boys' State were Randy Linquist and Casey Elliot.

Exchange students are Mariana Muse, Ute Schuller, Belinda Simpson, and Ken Saguchi.

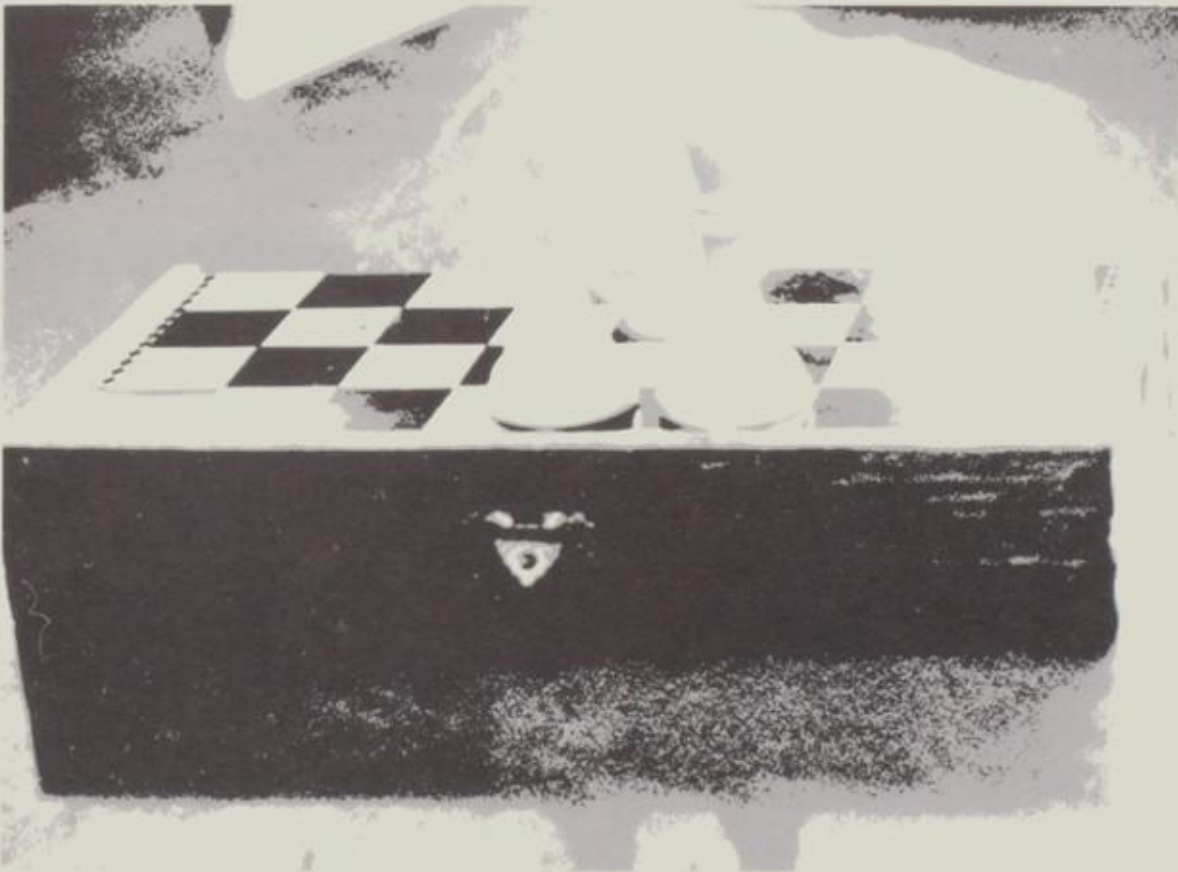

National Merit Scholar Semi-finalists are Linnea Studer, Connie Howes, Kathy Clarke, John Harper, and Ralph Shipley. These students are to be commended for their excellent test ratings.

Becky Clouser, Jeanmarie Kabala, and Kathy Clarke went to Girls' State last summer.

FOREIGN LANDS BECOME NEARER TO MEMBERS OF LANGUAGE CLUBS

The German, Spanish and French Clubs have put an emphasis on uniting some of their annual activities, such as the Ice Cream Social for International Night, Christmas caroling, and tobogganing in Alliance. All the clubs increased in number of activities for its members. Among the activities were the Christmas and New Year's Eve Party, bowling, and films.

SLIDE RULES AND CYCLES CHARACTERIZED MATH CLUB

Math Club members supplemented their curriculum in a way that was not possible in the classroom. By going on field trips, inviting speakers, and meeting with a math club from another school, they were able to accomplish this goal. Listening to speakers discuss such topics as "Why Gambling Doesn't Pay," "Demonstration of the Math Industry," and "System Analysis" showed the members how mathematics is applied in business, industry, and agriculture.

SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERIES INTEREST STUDENTS

Science Club has been expanded to include earth science, biology, chemistry, and physics. In the first part of the year, the club concentrated on the physical sciences; in the second half, biological sciences. The club toured Diamond Portland Cement Company and went fossil hunting in their limestone quarry. Through discussion topics such as "Future: Utopia or Chaos," the Science Club has expanded its members' knowledge of their environment.

Science Club is grouped around one of the best and most interesting fossils uncovered by the recent blasting. This root of an ancient fern tree is over two hundred million years old.

Officers J. Andrea, D. Ferguson, G. Seibert, M. Mohler, and W. Ream examine fossils.

Interest is what makes having a greenhouse worthwhile. M. Mohler looks at plants.

Science Club members and advisors searched carefully for fossils at the strip mine. This area had just been blasted a few days before their expedition.

PEP CLUB SHOWS SCHOOL SPIRIT

Pep Club, Hoover's newest organization, began its membership drive along with the Booster Club drive. The support was overwhelming and it really showed up at the football pep rallies and sports events throughout the entire year. Pep Club members spent many nights making signs that would boost the school spirit and put desire into the team members. Pep Club sponsored the Hush Day (which was quite noisy). They spent every Thursday night putting signs up around the school.

Cindy Rohr, Debbie Hamilton, and Kathy Berkebile spent many Thursday nights painting signs and hanging them in the cafeteria, hoping to create a victorious atmosphere for Hoover teams.

Senior Pep Club member and varsity cheerleader Kay Douglas arouses enthusiasm.

CLUBS WORK TO HELP OTHERS

A new project Red Cross had was the "Pals" program with North Canton schools. This program provided children who needed help in school with a tutor. Another Red Cross community project was one that strived for world peace. It did this by writing letters to the Office of the President in Hanoi asking for humane treatment and release of prisoners. At Christmas members went caroling at the homes of shut-ins. Medical Arts Club sent gifts to Massillon State Hospital in "Operation Santa Claus."

Packaging candy, cookies, pens, stationery, newspapers, and razor blades are B. Swinehart, P. Day, L. McCarthy, and S. Moore. These were sent to Hoover graduates serving in Vietnam.

Assisting with a city-wide drive, Toys for Tots, are A. Wunderle, J. Hill, and J. Gill.

We almost credited J. Kabala for burning the school down! To make the scrolls for the banquet it was necessary to burn the edges of the papers. Finally, Jean found a safe way to do it.

15 JOURNALISTS ARE HONORED

Quill and Scroll, which has been chartered since 1940, is one of the oldest acting honorary organizations at Hoover. It is a national high school honorary for students who show excellence and keen interest in their journalistic work and who show promise as future journalists. To qualify for membership, one must meet three requirements. An honor key was presented to students who met all but one requirement. For the first time, previously inducted members deserving recognition received special awards.

Mr. James Burnett, news director at WHBC in Canton, spoke on "Broadcast Journalism."

There were seven speakers at the Quill and Scroll banquet. Among them was P. Norman who presented the history, background and goals of the Quill and Scroll national honorary.

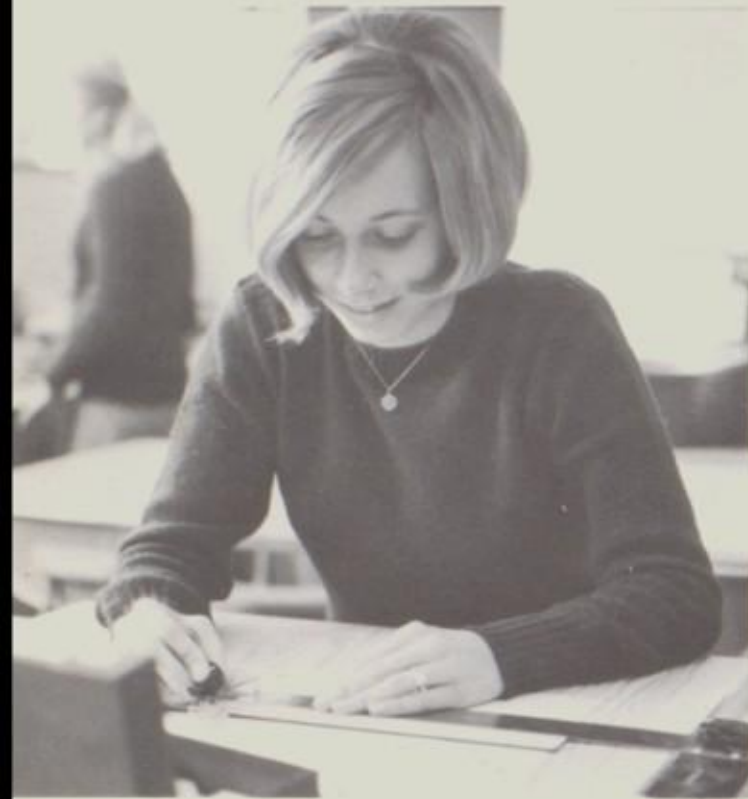

D. Dilgard and B. Wilcox, who worked on the yearbook, and C. Decker, who worked on the newspaper, were presented honor keys because of their fine journalistic accomplishments.

The banquet was a covered dish dinner. Everyone gobbled the delicious food with delight.

ART CLUB PROFITS IN A YEAR OF CREATIVITY

Hoover High School's Art Club was organized with the purpose of providing an outlet for the student to experiment and do his own work. The club's objective was to further the practical development of the regular art student. It gave the individual the chance to be creative and successful in his own right. Through the organization of Art Club, the budding artist can sell his work. Mr. Palmer and Miss Negulici were the advisors; Sue Marable, vice-president; and Jim Wilson, treasurer.

Debbie Jewell, Art Club president, uses the lettering guide to make signs for football.

Art students Todd Baxter and Ken Sprung look over a still life painting done in oils.

Art Club secretary Sue Brillhart is pouring slip mold, while Tina Sammeter helps.

Mr. Gary, a distinguished hair dresser from Gerber's Beauty School, provided a profitable night for the members. He explained how to roll up and wash one's hair as well as its proper care.

Making various Christmas decorations for the yuletide season was a Home Ec activity.

Kathy Corbett, Sue Cahill, Paula Cugliari, and Kathy Berkebile planned interesting meetings.

PROGRAMS INTEREST MEMBERS

The 1970-71 Home Ec Club got underway with a field trip to the Ohio Power Company in Canton. A hair specialist came to their next meeting and demonstrated to the girls how to "beat the frizzies" by burning their hair. The Teen Board Representatives' Fashion Show for the club members and a visit from the florist provided interesting meetings. The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet was held at the end of the year to round out another year of profitable activities.

STUDENTS AIR POLICY CHANGES

Student Council is designed to fill the gap between the administration and the student body. To fulfill this function, representatives took complaints from the students. Some of the various questions raised included dress code, library procedures, and why a letterman must have his sweater on in order to gain free admittance to a sports event. Mr. Dieringer, in his first year as advisor, watched over Homecoming, Tom Dooley Day, basketball coat check, and assemblies.

Student Council officers were Cindy Shellhammer, Barb Jewell, John Dannemiller, and Chuck Schreck.

Homeroom 205 won first prize in the door-decorating contest for their advice to gridders.

BOOSTER CLUB PLANS FUN—FESTS

Booster Club started its activities in the fall with the Wiener Roast at Dogwood Park, to honor Hoover's football and cross country players. The door-decorating contest for the Louisville game followed. "Cartoon Land" was the theme of the Turnabout Dance held February 5 which featured the Golden Grass. Booster Club, the largest school club, kept the basketball roster on the gym wall up-to-date and provided free Pepsi at the yearbook-signing party in June.

Some of the couples attending the Turnabout such as Popeye, Olive Oil, Dennis the Menace, and Margaret gather around Beetle Bailey's sergeant for a lively conversation.

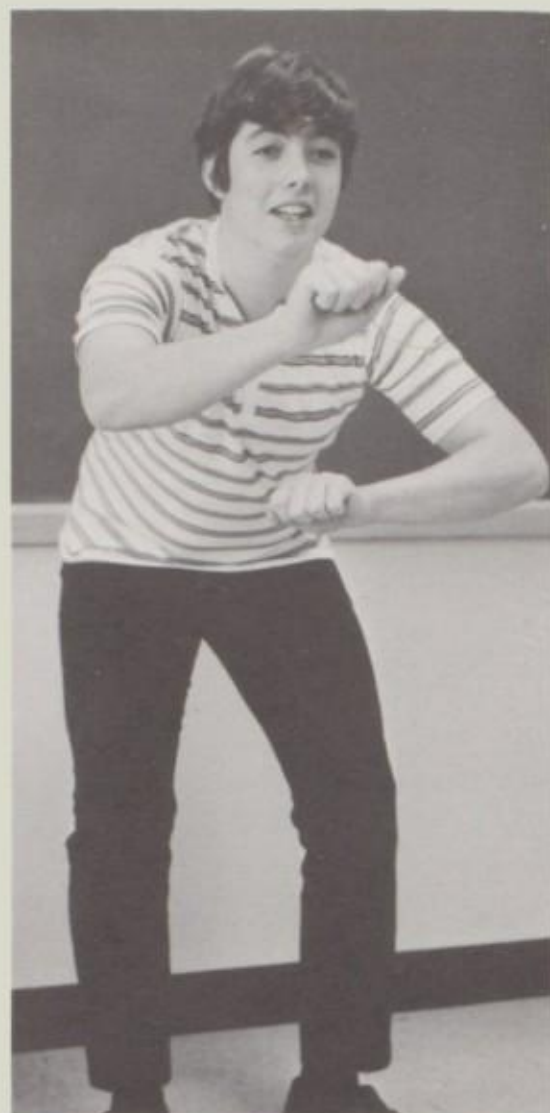

Girls' President Becky Hertler joined Boys' President Darrel Goad to provide leadership for the various Viking activities sponsored by the Booster Club, such as changing the Booster sign.

STUDENTS SPEAK THEIR PIECE

Pollution was this year's topic for NFL members. NFL (National Forensic League) is an honorary society for those in speech events. Members spend up to twenty hours a week preparing for tournaments. By this competition, students are able to earn points for their induction to NFL. Membership increased this year due to added student interest. Besides speaking, members operated the concession stand at the home basketball games and district track meet.

N. Schorsten, K. Clarke, S. McCoul, Mr. McDowell, and D. Skibbens review club plans.

Jeff Gillman, top in individual events, practices his humorous interpretation.

Kathy Clarke, Dan Pickard, Jeff Shuster, Neil Schorsten, Dave Skibbens, John Harper, and Jeanmarie Kabala prepare to leave at 6 AM for one of their many tournaments.

GAA SHOWS THAT ATHLETICS ARE NOT JUST FOR BOYS

The high enrollment of members in GAA was living proof that sports are not exclusively for boys. The enthusiasm and activity in the freshman class was overwhelming. They have shown more interest in this type of recreational activity than any class previously. The Orange and Black basketball team was of great interest. Among the activities were swimming, playing miniature golf, bowling, skiing, roller skating, horseback riding, a Mother-Daughter banquet and a Father-Daughter date night.

Playing volleyball for faculty night was exciting, but getting hung-up on the net wasn't this member's idea of fun. Other players enjoying the scene are Mary Wilson and Sandy Heiser.

The officers in Girls Athletic Association, S. Bailey, D. Clevenger, M. King, P. Andrews, P. Martinsen, S. Johnson, and D. Slayman, are the mainspring for organization in this big club.

Cosmetology, which even the boys should know about, is an indispensable art in the theater. Stage make-up is being applied to J. Vestal. Demonstrating how to gray the hair of L. Clinton is K. Fitz.

THESPIANS LEARN TECHNIQUES

Advancement and improvement of theater arts is the purpose and aim of the International Thespian Society. As a service and as an honorary organization, it widens the students' cultural horizons. Hoover's chapter, too, is concerned with the advancement of the theater arts. It endeavors to gain the interest of other students by publicizing its activities. The club attended a play at the Players' Guild and planned part of the busy schedule for next year.

HONORED STUDENTS SHOW SIGNS OF POSSESSING THE FOUR VITAL CHARACTERISTICS

Selecting new members for National Honor Society was a scrupulous process. A list of the eligible students was distributed to all the teachers. After the teachers made their recommendations, a separate committee discussed the selected students. Mrs. Arndt and Mr. Dieringer then made the final decision from the advice of the committee.

VIKING VIEWS SPREADS THE NEWS

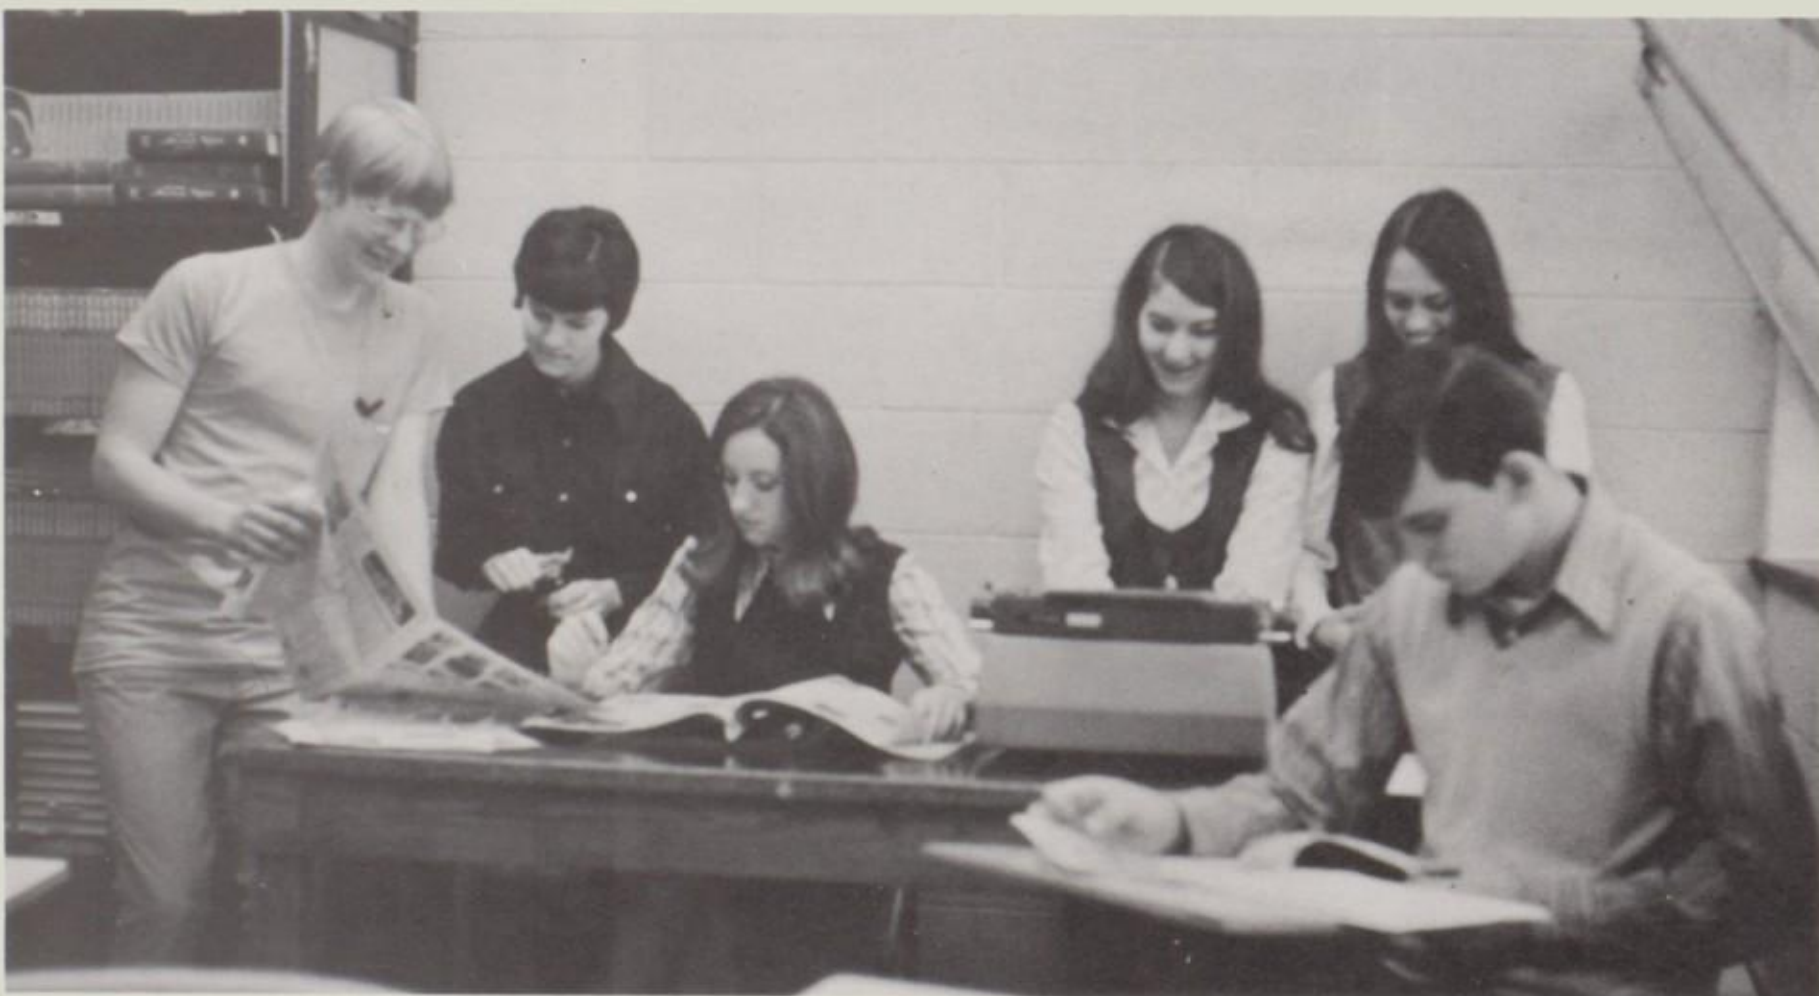

Julie Baker being crowned '70 Homecoming Queen, results of Senior Day Elections with Tim Strauch mayor-elect, A'Cappella choir's presentation of Carousel, and Women's Lib were just a few of the stories covered by the Viking Views. Together with Mr. Mazzarella, editor Pam Norman, and the journalism classes, this year's staff produced some very interesting and informative newspapers.

Page editors Sue Cornish and Cindy Houston and editor Pam Norman worked very hard to produce a good newspaper. They were responsible for assigning stories to the staff that appeared in the paper.

Photographer Debbie Reed looks on as Barb Jewell, business manager, writes a check.

Staff members Russell Burt, Sue Johnson, and Ann McClellan look through past issues of the paper, while Sue Moore and Jan Blackshere type a story and Charlie Little views some football pictures.

STAFF STRIVES FOR PERFECTION

Lost photos, hectic days, insane photographers, unmet deadlines, one coffee-drinking advisor, a broken scaleograph, lost grease pencils, photogenic yearbook staff members, brainstorm, pictures that would not fit the layout, a calm editor, four letter words, laughter, and exhaustion were all part of the unique 1971 Viking staff. A lot of changes were made, such as a color introduction and closing, action shots in the organizations section, and better athletic coverage.

Sue Williams and Betsy Wilcox spent hours in other classes such as Algebra II writing headlines, while Mary Beth Santelle and Lisa Smith spent many nights proofing the yearbook.

Photographers John Guiher, Mike Green, and Debbie Reed check list of assignments.

JoAnne Sturiale and Sandy Troup accurately identified students for the Classes section.

Jill Snively and Luci Wisniewski drank a lot of coffee and studied many books, not to mention all the work they put into another great Academics and Faculty section.

MUCH TIME IS SPENT TO PRODUCE THE ALL-NEW

Members of the Sales staff listen in to get their instructions on how and in what room to sell the yearbook, while members of the Advertising Staff list various possibilities for clients.

VIKING ANNUAL

Darrel Goad, Cindy Houston, and Helene Babich covered Hoover sports for Athletics section.

Music editor Lorrie Weeks, herself musically talented, composed the music section.

Eliminating the group photo and adding more action to the clubs were Kathy Fitz and editor Barb Jewell. Adding more student life activities to the Viking were Martha Wise and editor Peg Bortz.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC REQUIRES CONCENTRATION AND HOURS OF DILIGENT PRACTICE

After many long weeks of hard work and rehearsal, the Marching Band was ready to begin an active season. Included in the heavy schedule were weekly half-time shows, various parades, and two spectacular marching band festivals at Tuslaw and Orrville. Highlighting the season was the Louisville Constitution Day Parade in which the Band won a first place trophy for being the best marching unit. Later in the year, Concert Band played a variety of music for appreciative audiences.

A VARIETY OF ENSEMBLES AND SOLOISTS PERFORM AT CONTEST

Like many other ensembles, D. Davidson, B. Hall, B. Arnold, D. Garber, and J. Dobson worked hard to perfect their music and team work as a brass quintet for contest on March 6.

C. Shanholtzer, D. Ebie, T. Tewanger, and B. Howard climbed to success as a clarinet quartet.

C. Youtz, Ed Rowland, S. Marable, and L. Weeks went to contest as a string quartet.

D. Define, accompanied by J. Cockerham, performed in contest, as did many other soloists.

MUSICIANS ACHIEVE QUALITY

The Hoover High Orchestra started off a rewarding season by accompanying the A'Cappella Choir in the production of Carousel. The Orchestra also performed a variety of classical music in a winter concert and a spring concert. Throughout the year the members improved their ability and expanded their repertoire.

The members of the Cadet Band developed technical skills and the ability to play together as a unified team. This training will help them in the future.

In a seasonal background, the A'Cappella Choir presented the exciting finale of the Christmas Program by singing "Magnificat," "Nunc Dimitis," and "The Hallelujah Chorus."

David Walters gave of his talent and effort as he accompanied the choir.

The sixteen members of the Hi-Lows performed a medley of three selections for the Christmas Program, a representation of the variety of music with which they entertained different organizations throughout the year.

THROUGH FORMAL AND FUN MUSIC, A'CAPPELLA CHOIR BRINGS JOY

The A'Cappella Choir started off its profitable season with the production of Carousel late in November. Shortly afterwards, the Choir performed a variety of seasonal music in the annual Christmas Program. Other performances were given at the Christmas Assembly, Easter Assembly, and Commencement. The members competed with other top choirs in the district and state in contest in March. The members displayed their musical progress in the Spring Sing, the finale of the year.

FROSH DEVELOP MUSICAL SKILLS

The Freshman Mixed Choir is part of the freshman training program in the choir department. The members of the choir worked hard all year to learn the fundamentals of music theory and singing techniques. Last year, for the first time, the Freshman Mixed Choir went to Junior High Contest and received a Superior rating. The new members showed off their talents and efforts by going to contest this year also. In the spring they joined with the other choirs to present the annual Spring Sing.

SOPHOMORES DESIRE PERFECTION

The Sophomore Mixed Choir combined their talents and efforts to support the choir department in programs throughout the year. They joined with the A'Capella Choir and Concert Band to present the finale in the Christmas Program. They also participated in the Spring Sing and sang with the juniors of the A'Capella Choir for commencement exercises. The Sophomore Mixed Choir competed with many of the best choirs in the district at contest in the spring.

ENTHUSIASM AND TALENT UNITE FRESHMAN GIRLS

Along with the Freshman Mixed Choir, the many girls in the Freshman Glee Club received training that will help them in their future years with the choral department. The many hours of rehearsing paid off in their performances. They worked hard to learn difficult music for competing in the Junior High Contest and participated in the Spring Sing. The success of the whole choral department depended on the cooperation of its youngest members.

GIRLS SHINE AT THANKSGIVING

The members of the Girls' Glee Club both gave and gained as they provided musical entertainment, but received the pleasure of learning beautiful and difficult music. They provided the music for the Thanksgiving Assembly and participated in the annual Christmas Program. Not to be out-done by the other choirs in the department, the Girls' Glee Club gave other girls' choirs in the area hard competition during contest. The sound of female voices blending in harmony added to the Spring Sing.

VIKINGS CAPTURE RUNNER-UP HONORS IN FEDERAL

Coach Hertler watches as Harold Lowden strikes paydirt during the homecoming game. The Vikings demolished the Oakwood Raiders with a score of 38-7.

LEAGUE WITH WINNING SEASON

The 1970 varsity football squad was blessed with tremendous depth and ability. The return of sixteen lettermen from last year's squad proved to be instrumental in the team's success. The Vikings tied for the runner-up position in the Federal League with an outstanding record of seven wins and three losses.

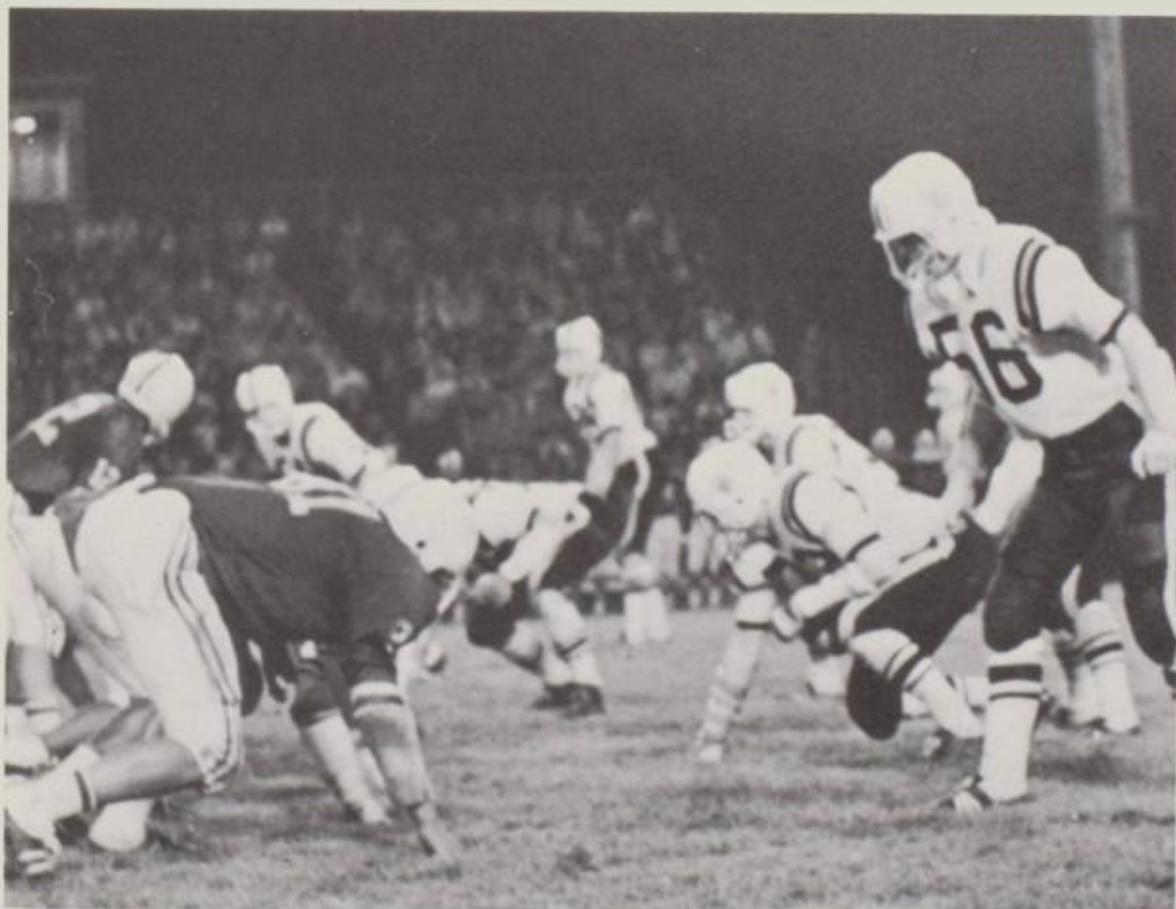

Mr. Don Hertler, now the Dean of Stark County coaches, led the team in his 100th game at Marlinton. The Varsity squad worked and co-operated as one unit exceptionally well with each individual contributing to the successful season. This must be attributed to both the players and our fine staff of dedicated coaches which has so capably guided each squad year after year.

Added depth paid off as early season injuries took their toll with Varsity players. Darrel Goad and John Danemiller watch from the sidelines.

Bob Cornelly breaks a would-be tackler as he heads for another Viking TD.

Hoover's defensive unit, putting forth one of its more outstanding efforts against a then ninth ranked Toledo Scott team, awaits another play.

Mike Logan drops back behind the protection of Greg Anderson and John Hevlow.

There were many great times enjoyed by Viking gridgers. Senior quarterback Harold Lowden displays his enthusiasm following another Hoover score.

Greg "Andy" Anderson, with the aid of Tim Escola, displays excellent maneuvering.

The team was guided by tri-captains Harold Lowden, Jim Freday, and Dave Kuhn. Each not only gave outstanding performances, but provided excellent leadership.

RESERVE TEAM IS VICTORIOUS

The Reserve football team had an excellent season of six wins and two losses. Coaches Dick Gross and Walt Tolarchyk led their team with experience, hard work, and practice. The defensive squad held their opponents scoreless for four consecutive games. The mighty Jayvees totaled 207 points by their leading scorers Eric Escola, Mark Lukens, Allen Bell, and Jeff Winegard.

The Freshman football squad was led by the capable coaching of Mr. Long and Mr. Nutt. The season record was an outstanding one of six wins and only one loss, four of those six games with the opponents remaining scoreless due to the hard-hitting defense. Jeff Logan and Tim Smith were the top scorers for the freshmen. These top-notch gridgers should prove to be most helpful as they, along with their teammates, gain experience for their future years.

RUN, DON'T WALK IS MOTTO

The outstanding record which this year's Cross Country Team achieved was due to the hard work each member of the team put in. Coach John Foster, in his second year at Hoover as coach of the Cross Country Team, led his team to a successful season. The harriers took second place in the Federal League as well as in the Stark County Invitational. Scott Brown, a senior Varsity runner, was sent to the State meet and placed 60 out of 130 runners.

Varsity members use experience and skill to become victorious in the various meets held throughout the year. Senior members include J. White, S. Brown, T. Beatty, K. Nicoll.

UNDEFEATED GRAPPLERS ARE FEDERAL CO-CHAMPS

Senior Chuck Schreck, concluding his three-year career as an outstanding varsity performer, most capably maneuvers his opponent, working for another one of his numerous pins.

MATMEN CONQUER LEAGUE FOES

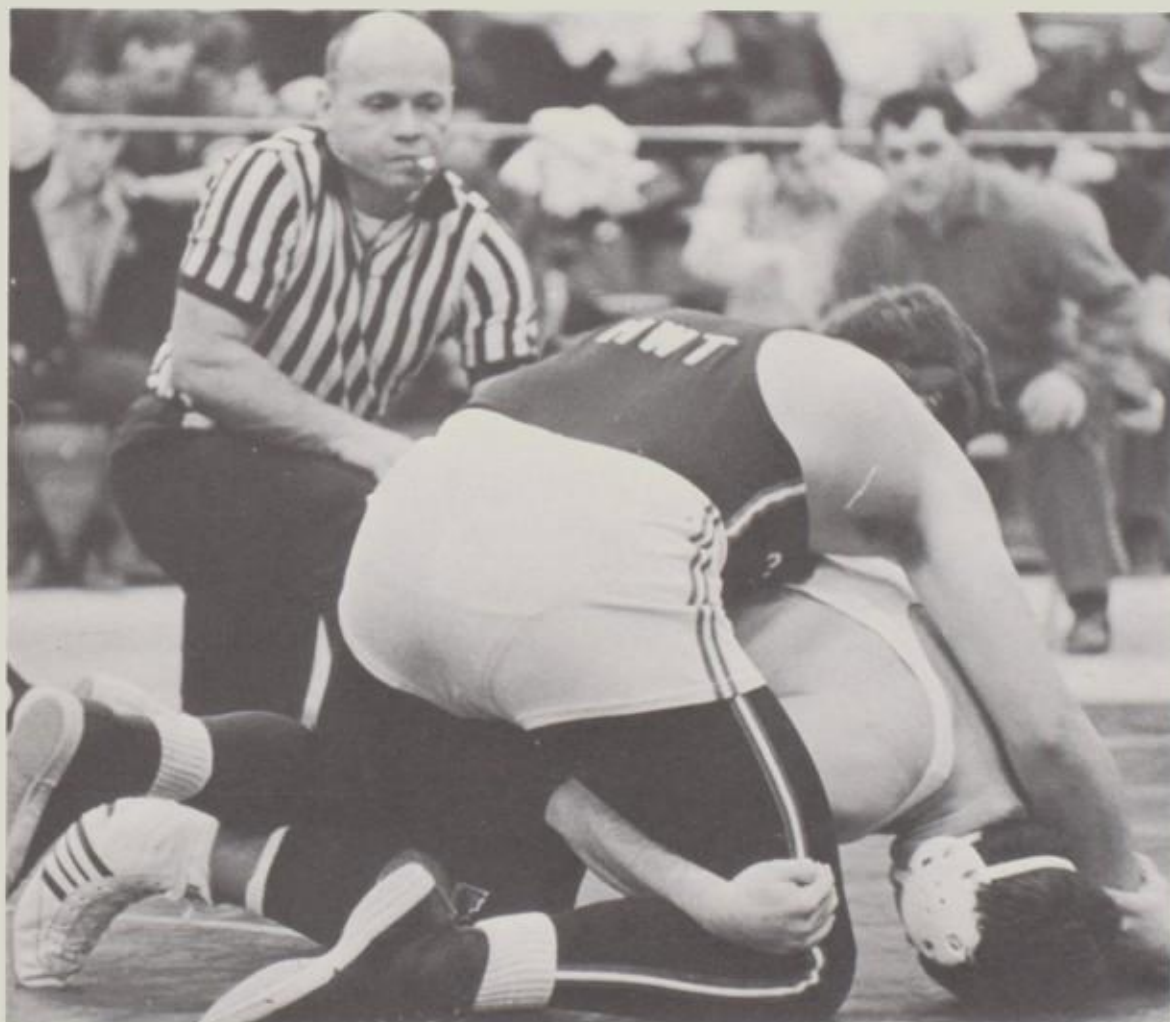

The 1970-71 edition of the varsity wrestling team held with tradition by claiming possession of an undefeated season. Both fine coaching and tremendous enthusiasm, provided by countless fans, inspired our fine wrestlers. Standout performances by seniors Lowden, Samblanet, Wolfe and Schreck as well as other underclassmen once again produced winning ways as the Vikings were crowned Federal League Co-Champs and Sectional Champs.

Concentration and determination, both key factors to success, are extremely evident on the face of senior Chuck Schreck as he chalks up another victory for both his personal and team records.

Another opponent discovers the tremendous ability of the formidable Viking wrestler.

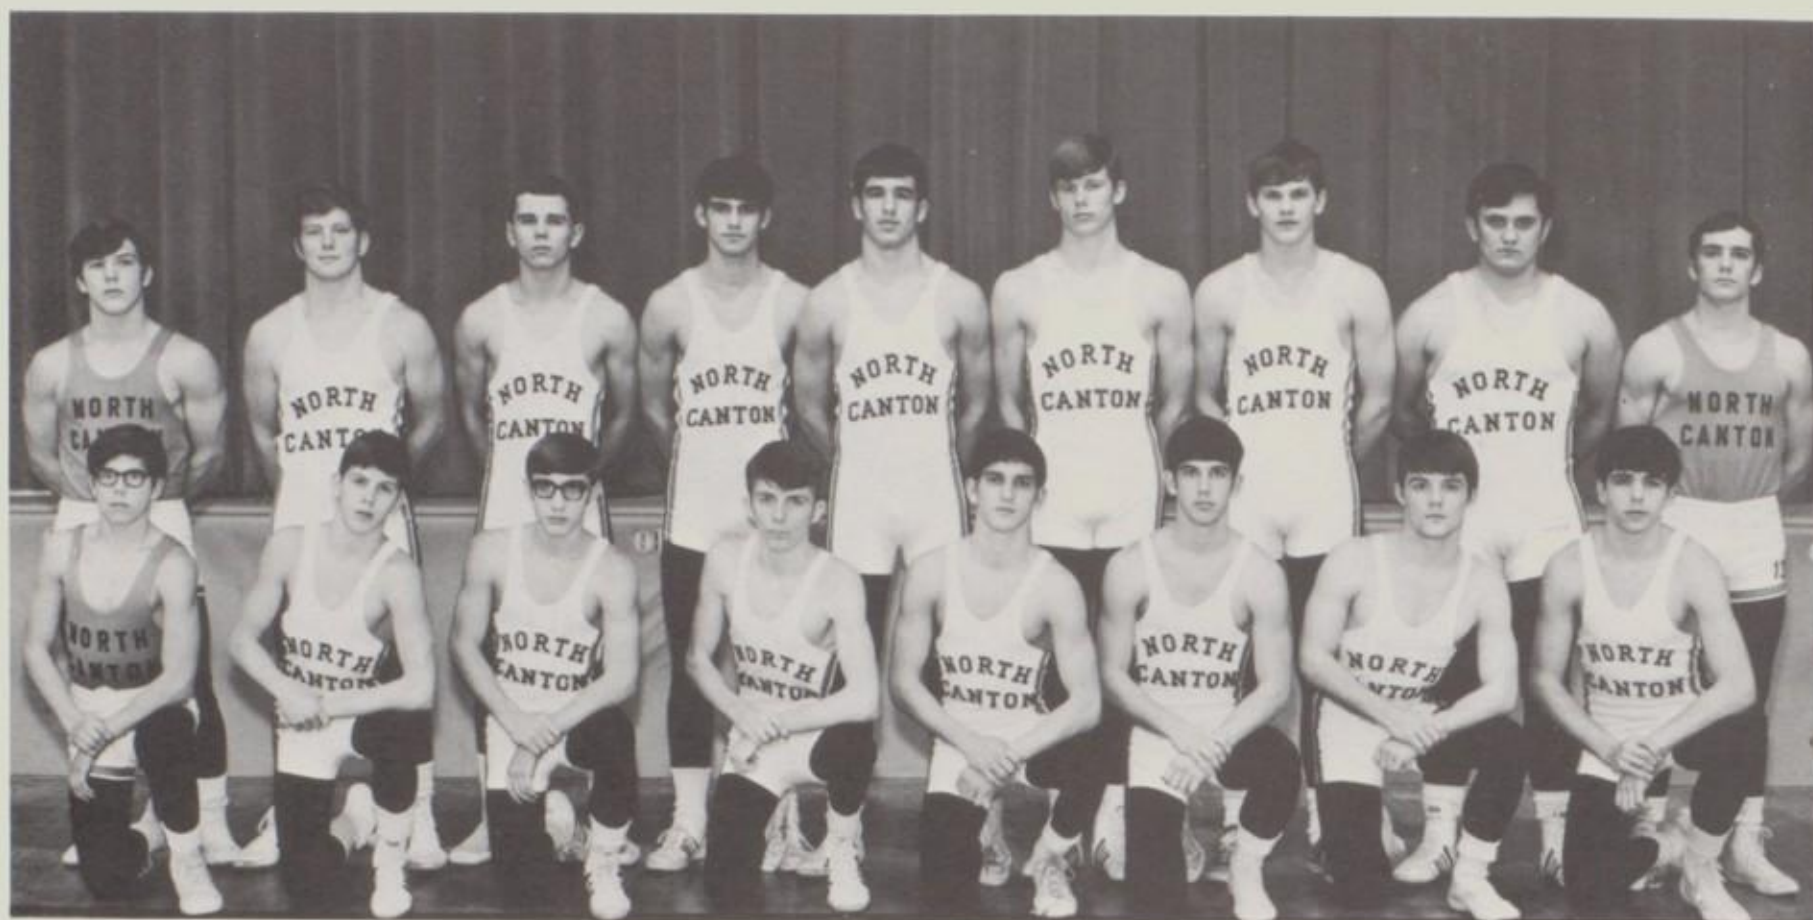

The familiar face of comedian Don Rickles belonging in reality to John Evans looks on as tough Dave Kuhn gains valuable riding time in his tournament skirmish with his Crestwood heavyweight opponent.

One word sums up the emotions and expressions of these varsity wrestlers—teamwork.

Viking forward Dave Honold, while trying to break away from the rugged defense of the Canton South Wildcats, gives an all-out effort as the enthusiastic Vikings cheer him on.

PLAYERS SHOW COOLNESS UNDER GAME PRESSURE

Canton South defense struggles to keep Mark Radosevic away from the hoop and the inevitable points which helped raise the score and the standing of the team in the Federal League.

A battle of height rages as Jim Armstrong and a South Wildcat reach for the jump ball.

Dave Honold, number 40, runs downcourt after the ball to get into position as his fellow team members Tom Wolf and Jim Armstrong race to help him out.

As Coach King stresses a point during a time-out, Jerry Geib and Mark Radosevic listen.

BALL BOUNCERS HIT .500 MARK

Pre-season predictions of the upcoming season were not optimistic. However, things began to look up as performances by seniors Cady, Radosevic, Hudak and Wolf began to pay dividends. The Vikings broke even with a record of 9-9.

Several losses were extremely close, all of which could have gone either way. The highlight of the season occurred when our Vikings outplayed highly regarded Louisville to the tune of 57-56, shattering their 11-game winning streak.

MERMEN COMPETE IN NEW POOL

Swimming in one of the newest area pools, Hoover's mermen earned a fine first-year record with four wins and six losses. Performances improved throughout the season as a result of the long hours team members devoted to practice. This paid off when fourteen swimmers qualified for the district meet in Massillon. The team, coached by Rick Morrison, placed seventh out of twenty teams in the district meet. High district finishes qualified seniors Casey Elliot and Mark Phillips for the state meet. Top divers Scott Hawkins and Dave Oby, as well as freshman freestyle swimmer Rick Chambers and senior Paul Revoldt, who competed in the 100-yard breaststroke, added many points to the team's scoring record.

Top-notch swimmer Casey Elliot displays the form that enabled him to qualify in the butterfly for both the district and state meets. His district tie for first place came with a time of 57.9 seconds.

BY NETTING A WINNING SEASON

Outstanding individual effort, as well as an excellent team effort characterized the 1970 tennis team. Spearheaded by Bob Meister, MVP, the team earned an 11-4-2 record. Other key players were singles Walt Ream and Mick Franta and the doubles combination of Tom Powell and Dave Honold. Team strength was proven by a second place finish at the district tournament. Under Coach Don Miller, nine players received their varsity tennis letters.

RUNNERS WIN

Dave Shatzer exhibits the style that enabled him to break the old school record for the discus throw with a powerful heave of 155 feet, 11 inches.

Mike Sowers aided the Vikings with consistent first place wins in the high jump.

No, this isn't a one man kickline, it's Hoover's high jumping Mike Sowers.

THE FEDERAL LEAGUE LAURELS

A 7-2 record in dual meets clinched the Federal League championship for the 1970 track team. Seniors Mike Sowers and Dave Shatzer dominated the field events and the underclassmen controlled the running events. Top runners included Paul Yoder, Dave McQueen, Scott Brown, John White, Clint Alguire, and Eric Escola. Paul Yoder, MVP, represented Hoover at the state meet. Under Coach Dick Gross, the cindermen set seven new school records.

Grim determination is spelled out in Darrel Goad's expression as he hurdles toward the finish line and a hopeful victory for the Hoover High track team.

The excellent season given by the sluggers on the 1970 baseball team surpassed all expectations. Coach Don Hertler became the All-Federal League Coach while his team members Scott Freday, Howie Furbee, Gary Glass, Mark Gulling, Mike Logan, and Craig Loudon became a part of the All-Federal League Squad. The efforts and determination of the team gave them their rewards in the forms of first place in the Federal League as well as in the District.

Coach Don Hertler contemplates the situation from the bench as the tensions mount. The sluggers on the bench and on the field fight hard to have a winning season.

Jim Freday practices his catching to defend home plate for a sure win during the District Finals. Determination and practice paid off in an excellent season.

All of us-
In our many different worlds-
Coming together for a brief time,
Then dissolving once again.
During the days of unity
We discovered parts of others
To be much like ourselves.
Fifteen hundred friends,
A school,
Learning more than books entail,
But now, it ends.

Our journey ends
 Much as it began,
 With songs of life yet to be
 And snatches of melodies
 Of what was,
 Reminding us of all we have seen
 And all we longed to be . . .

Time it was,
 And what a time it was.
 It was
 A time of innocence-
 A time of confidences.
 Long ago it must be . . .
 I have a photograph.
 Preserve your memories;
 They're all that's left you.
